Wonder ball

Dazzling the girls with his "Wonder ball" is Councilman Junior Block, who pitched for the men against the secretaries of City Hall in last week's Muscular Dystrophy benefit softball game. They called it his "wonder" ball, because they wondered how far the girls were going to sock it. The slugging secretaries trounced their bumbling bosses, 11-5, for their third victory in as many years. However, you'd never guess it by the calm expression on Junior's face. (Then again, maybe he was shell-shocked!). ANP Photo.

Child safety foremost

Vendor ordinance OK'd

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

Children buying ice cream from neighborhood vending trucks in Romulus will soon be better protected as a result of City Council's introduction of a new ordinance last week.

Patterned after Detroit's regulations to a great extent, the ordinance was drawn up by City Clerk Leonard Folmar and presented at the May 31 meeting. However, Council members wanted some additional stipulations, such as sound control, safety precautions and time limits placed on the travelling ice cream vendors.

At the May 31 meeting, Council referred the proposed ordinance to City Attorney Robert Reese and directed him to "place a limit on the amount of sound coming from the ice cream truck." Reese took care of the question of how many "decibels" would be permitted by writing into the ordinance complete exclusion of musical reproduction.

In Section 7, under the heading of Noise, it reads: "The driver of an ice cream vehicle shall not play a radio, musical instrument, phonograph, loudspeaker, sound amplifier, or any other machine to reproduce sound for the purpose of attracting attention of the public to the ice cream truck."

Council member Joan Lee was especially concerned with the loud volume of sounds coming from some of the ice cream trucks. Also added to the previous ordinance was a time restriction, limiting the hours of business from noon to 9 p.m.

The four-page document, which was introduced by Councilman Bob Martin and passed unanimously, will receive its second reading June 28 and become effective upon publication in the newspaper.

Some other important stipulations of the ordinance include:

Two alternately flashing amber lights in front and two alternately flashing red lights on the rear of the vehicle, both lights visible from 500 feet.

A stop signal arm that can be extended horizontally from left side.

Every ice cream truck shall be inspected by the Department of Health each year prior to its use.

A person shall not vend on main thoroughfares or in the central business district, on streets where speed limit exceeds 25 miles per hour, or where already prohibited.

Vendor shall only vend from the side of the truck away from moving traffic.

A person shall not vend within 500 feet of any property used as a school from one hour before regular school day to one hour after regular school day.

The driver shall not back-up to make a sale, nor permit any unauthorized person to ride in or on the vehicle.

In section 11, there is an exemption authorized: "The Mayor may exempt or exempt from the requirements of this ordinance any ice cream truck which is not used to vend to persons under 12 years of age."

New County is eyed

Legislation is set for County split

By MAUREEN RADEMACHER
ANP Staff Writer

Suburbia's secession from Wayne County may be one of the hottest issues coming up in the next few months.

Westland State Rep. Thomas Brown plans to introduce legislation that would give area citizens the chance to vote on whether or not they want to remain in Wayne County, or form a new county of suburbs. The new county, called "Suburbia" by Brown, would consist of Western Wayne County and downriver communities.

The proposed bill is the outgrowth of recent suburban discontent among officials who feel that the outcounty areas' needs are being ignored because of Detroit predominance.

"I believe the people and local government of Western Wayne County are not getting their fair share of county services nor are they receiving fair representation in many of the county government decision making processes," Brown said.

He cited some recent controversies as examples of Detroit dominance. A recent transportation plan developed by the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMTA) "all but ignored" the needs of Western Wayne County, Brown said.

He criticized the Wayne County Board of Commissioners for giving jurisdiction over the "super sewer" to the County Public Works Department.

His arguments are that Detroit manages to get a majority block of representatives on many of the governing boards making decisions for Wayne County, then push through decisions they want.

For instance, the Wayne County Board of Commissioners, the legislative body of the county, has 14 commissioners from Detroit and 13 from suburban communities.

Detroit can pretty much dictate what will happen in Wayne County, and outcounty communities don't like it.

Brown's bill would give citizens the right to vote, or at least petition for a vote, on forming a separate county, Michigan's 84th.

He hopes to introduce the bill before summer recess in mid-July.

"I feel that if we in Western Wayne County cannot be guaranteed equal political and fiscal status, we should have the opportunity to become independent of Detroit and go our own way," Brown said.

The details and planning for such a split undoubtedly would be quite involved.

It is those details that Rep. Robert C. Law wants to hear about before jumping into the issue. Law represents parts of Westland and Livonia.

He said the plan is still in its infancy, but already he can see "tremendous problems" with the idea.

"I'm willing to look at the concept," he said, "I won't say I'm opposed to it."

"I can see some benefits, but I wouldn't want to create more problems than we solve."

He noted that such a split might also be beneficial to Detroit, since the city could then address its own problems in a more concentrated way. He added that Detroit and the suburbs are totally different types of areas with different problems.

Make-up week is off

Union forces closing

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus School Supt. James M. Garfield has notified the State Board of Education that it was impossible to hold classes this week and dismissed school for the summer, last Friday.

Garfield contends that the inability to get teachers and students to attend the extra make-up week of classes forced him to make the decision.

"The Romulus Community Schools will be unable to fulfill its original intention of extending the school year to comply with the June 8 directive of the State Board of Education," Garfield wrote John Porter, State School Supt., in Friday's letter.

"Reaction of parents of our community has been against this 'penalty' for their children and many of them have said that their children would not be in attendance."

"The unions involved have said they will not perform any additional work without additional pay. As you are aware, the Romulus Schools are currently in a deficit financial position and the extension of the school year would worsen that position," the letter continued.

"We therefore have notified the community and staff that today, Friday, June 17, 1977, will mark the close of the 1976-77 school year."

"The Romulus Community Schools fully understand that they will be losing that portion of state aid that represents the percentage of attendance on those days in which our attendance was less than 70 percent."

In defense of his action, Garfield said there was no alternative. "We've had many calls from parents who plainly said they would refuse to send their children to school the extra week," he said. "Many have said that their children should be penalized."

Garfield said the school board was notified last Thursday that the teachers wouldn't work the extra days without pay and that the teachers said they had filed an unfair labor practice suit against the Romulus School Board.

"It is our intention to inform our membership that in our view there is certainly no obligation under these circumstances to perform any additional work for the school board without pay," the letter reportedly told Garfield.

In the light of that action, the school superintendent said it would not be prudent to pay the teachers to work the extra days and then still lose the state aid if attendance didn't hit the 70 percent minimum. "Besides," he said, "We're talking about $25,000 to $30,000 per day in salaries for all employees involved and we just don't have that kind of money."

Garfield added that there is a state regulation which allows school districts to get a certain amount of state aid on the days attendance fell short of the minimum requirement.

"There is a regulation, never before used to my knowledge, which permits the state to pay a portion of state aid. If on any given day, attendance falls below 70 percent, state aid will be reduced by the percentage of attendance less than 70 percent," he explained.

Garfield said the school board has offered the teachers a salary package which would cost $600,000. In addition, Cost of Living Allowance (COLA) would be implemented in the third year of the contract.

Local 64, which represents maintenance, custodial, bus drivers and secretaries, and the association representing administrators have settled new contracts.

The reason the school board has been so reluctant to include COLA, Garfield said, was because of the "intangibility" of that procedure. "There is no way of telling how much the cost of living will go up in any given year and it's something over which we have no control."

MD benefit game

Getting together just before last week's Muscular Dystrophy benefit softball game at Elmer Johnson Park were these three important figures. Mayor James Stewart (left) hands the game ball to Tim Tomask, Congressional Medal of Merit 1977 for outstanding achievement in the community for Muscular Dystrophy. Looking on is Elbert Winton, president of the Road Runner Citizen's Band Radio Club. The men lost to the girls, 11-5, but everybody was the "winner" as all proceeds went to fight MD.

As part of its services

Health Department offers screenings

From immunizations to child health screening and family planning, it's all part of the wide range of health services available to residents through the Wayne County Department of Health.

The department at sites throughout the county offers many free and low-cost health services to residents. Through its health clinics, the department is able to emphasize the prevention and early detection of communicable diseases.

In the child health screening program tests available include hearing, vision, lead poisoning, sickle cell and diabetes. Testing is available for those through age 20 free of charge.

Among the sites offering the child health screening is the South Health Center, 21201 Eureka Road, which can be reached at 729-2211 for appointment; the Highland Park Clinic at 344 Glendale, phone 869-8700; the Hamtramck center at 3400 Yemans, phone 872-1682; and the Northwest Clinic in Northville, 1600 Sheldon Road north of Five Mile Road, call 729-2211.

Health Department clinics also offer free routine immunizations for children 2 months and older against diphtheria, tetanus, whooping cough, mumps, measles, rubella and polio. Small pox vaccinations are available on request, and routine tetanus-diphtheria boosters are offered for both children and adults.

Innoculations for persons traveling abroad are available for a minimal fee at the Eloise Health Center, located on Merriman Road, a quarter mile north of Michigan Avenue (walk-in service available) and the South Health Center in Taylor.

Providing the immunizations are the Eloise Health Center; South Health Center (walk-in service available); Harper Woods center in the Harper Woods Community Center, 19746 Harper, for appointment call 287-2400; 881-8600; Lincoln Park Presbyterian Church, 3702 Abbott at the corner of Emmons, phone 729-2211; St. Paul Presbyterian Church, 27475 Five Mile at Arcola in Livonia, phone 729-2211; and Rockwood Congregational Church, 22600 Mather, east of Huron River Drive, Rockwood, phone 729-2211.

Free family planning services, including complete physical examinations and birth control supplies, are available at four locations—the South Health Center in Taylor; Inkster Family Planning Clinic at Smith Chapel, 3505 Walnut, call 729-2211, ext. 235, for an appointment; Sumpter Family Planning Clinic, 24101 Sumpter Road, west of Willow Road, phone 729-2211, ext. 235; and the SAFE Teen Program, call 865-7177.

Confidential examination, treatment and follow-up of sexually transmitted diseases also is available without charge. Minors can be treated legally for venereal disease without parental consent.

Sites offering VD treatment are the Eloise Health Center in Westland and the South Health Center in Taylor.

Tuberculosis skin tests, costing $3, chest x-rays for $6 and foodhandler cards for $3 also is a service provided by the County Health Department. Centers providing that service are the Eloise Health Center, South Health Center, Herman Kiefer Clinic at 1151 Taylor, Detroit, call 876-4358; River Rouge Clinic at 1230 Coolidge, call 849-4366; Grosse Pointe Clinic at Cottage Hospital, 159 Kercheval (x-rays not available) call 881-8600; and Park Avenue Clinic at 3126 Park Avenue, Detroit (foodhandler cards not available), call 831-7522.

The MIC (Maternity and Infant Care)-PRESCAD (Preschool, School Age and Adolescent) Project is a comprehensive and continuing health care project for expectant mothers and children through 20 years of age who live within designated target areas of Detroit and Wayne County.

Eligibility will be determined at these centers:

—Downriver Child Care Center, 2585 Schafer near Deacon, call 849-2120 for an appointment.

—Inkster Child Care Center, 3505 Walnut (Smith Chapel), call 563-1133 for an appointment.

—Sumpter Child Care Center, 24101 Sumpter Road, call 461-6711 or 461-6830 for an appointment.

The WIC (Women, Infant and Children) Program is a supplemental food program, designed to supply eligible women with nutritional foods for their infants and children through age 4½.

Eligibility will be determined by the WIC Program. For appointments call Downriver 849-2120; Inkster, 562-1133; Sumpter, 461-6711; Taylor, 287-2400, and Wayne-Westland, 274-2800, ext. 234.

Senior health screening is a component of the health department providing screening for persons 60 years of age and older. The service is free and includes tests for diabetes, glaucoma, anemia, tuberculosis and many others. The Eloise Health Center is the lone site offering the service. Call 274-2800, ext. 251, for an appointment.

The SAFE Teen Program (Self-Awareness and Family Education) is designed to provide counseling, education, and medical services to teen-agers under the age of 18. In addition to the counseling services, the program provides a complete physical examination, birth control supplies, VD information and treatment and pregnancy testing. All information is completely confidential.

Canning course offered

Proper home canning and freezing methods will be taught in a course offered by Wayne County Community College during two Saturday sessions July 9 and July 16 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. The class will meet at the college's Greenfield Center, 8551 Greenfield near Joy Road in Detroit.

Interested persons may register for the course in person at the Community Services Office, 4612 Woodward, Detroit, or at the first class session. The cost of the course is $16.

Who are the reserves?

What is the Army Reserve, and where does it stand in relation to the Active Army as a military force?

"This is one of the most frequently asked questions heard by recruiting and public affairs personnel in the Army Reserve," said Wayne E. Guinn, deputy recruiting officer of the U.S. Army Reserve Center in Livonia. "Although the Army Reserve has many facets, I believe the answer that fits best is that the Army Reserve is people—men and women citizen-soldiers, nearly 200,000 strong, who participate in unit training to support the active Army in the defense of this nation and its freedoms."

Guinn went on to say: "This force of well-trained citizen-soldier enjoys a dual responsibility. Each man or woman is a good neighbor, contributing to the well-being of the home community where they live, and at the same time, they are proud to devote part of their time in support of this nation's defense.

"Men and women, who continue in their full-time civilian careers while maintaining their military proficiency in the Army Reserve, are ready to drop their civilian roles and become a vital part of our total defense forces in case of war or national emergency."

Under present Department of Defense preparedness operations, the nation is committed to an Army composed entirely of volunteers, thus the fast response of Reserve units in an emergency mobilization becomes of vital importance, he added.

"Here at the Livonia Reserve Center, our unit, the 70th Division, is training to be ready for the important role it plays," Guinn concluded.

Stewart says legislators have 'heads in the sand'

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus Mayor James C. Stewart took the occasion of a "Legislative Night" dinner at Southfield's Raleigh House Thursday to blast state legislators for "having their heads in the sand".

The outspoken mayor was referring to the inability of himself and other fellow suburban leaders to have input in Lansing.

Stewart was accompanied by four local city officials and more than 100 others who met with six state senators and representatives at the dinner sponsored by four building associations. With Stewart were Leonard Folmar, city clerk; Hyle Carmichael, industrial coordinator; Ed Fall, building department director; and Jay Young, public information officer.

Representatives from 14 cities in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties attended the dinner. State legislators, who have short speeches and then fielded questions, included State Sens. William Fitzgerald of Detroit, Patrick McCollough of Dearborn, David Holmes of Detroit and Robert Geake of Northville.

State Reps. Richard Fessler of Union Lake, Robert Law of Westland and Claude Trim of Davisburg (near Flint) were also on hand. State Rep. Edward Mahalak of Romulus, was invited, but did not attend. Sen. William Faust of Westland, was unable to attend because of a prior commitment.

Builders, suppliers and subcontractors, along with city officials, were invited to the dinner. The meeting, held in a "town hall forum" type of setting, discussed such matters as the single business tax, workmen's compensation, state police patrolling Detroit's freeways, land use legislation, high-rate unemployment and Michigan businesses being lured away to southern states.

Stewart first expressed his frustrations over what he called local leaders inability to have input with Lansing legislators.

"You fellows up there have your heads in the sand," he charged. "I think it's very unfair for Coleman Young (Detroit mayor) to have immediate access to the governor's office. Yet, I have visited Lansing on several occasions on important matters and been turned away."

He also alluded to the special treatment Detroit got when it came to grants.

Sen. Holmes of Detroit took exception to Stewart's characterization of Young and suggested Stewart contact his own legislator.

Stewart's other contention was that Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMTA) was misusing $2 billion.

"I think it's ridiculous to spend $2 billion for a new mass transit system that will benefit only Detroit and the point at the end of the commuter routes," Stewart said.

"The I-94 Freeway is already overloaded with traffic and should not add commuter buses that will not be stopping in Romulus."

Rep. Fessler of Union Lake agreed with the Romulus mayor.

"Instead of building a new system at the cost of $100 million a mile, we should use existing rail lines. With a $200,000 initial grant, southeastern Michigan could have an operating system within a matter of months at a tremendous savings to the taxpayer," Fessler said.

Sponsors of the dinner were the Apartment Association of Michigan, National Apartment Association, Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan and National Association of Homebuilders.

The four groups came out strongly against the single business tax, saying it was a tremendous liability to small businesses and called for its repeal.

On the subject of unemployment, Rep. Law said: "The unemployment rate is so high in Michigan because we offer some of the highest unemployment benefits in the country. So, in effect, we're recruiting the unemployed from other states while they recruit our businesses."

Law's comments came in response to the statement that southern states were enticing state industry away by offering them 'goodies' Michigan cannot provide.

City Clerk Leonard Folmar found the legislative dinner very helpful.

"I appreciate the opportunity for local government leaders and businessmen to explain to legislators how they feel about legislation on the local level," he said. "It's not generally felt, nor does it appear, that members of the legislature are sensitive to the impact the laws have on local citizens and businesses."

'Super stars?'

Steve Bonczek, dressed in his Superman shirt, stills looks a little dreamy-eyed as he tries to hit one "faster than a speeding bullet". The grants administrator couldn't help his men's team as they dropped an 11-5 verdict to the city hall secretaries for their third loss in as many years. Meanwhile, Bonnie Lozier looks like she may drop the ball, but her "Oakland A's" jersey and more finesse on the girls' part helped them clobber their opponents. Someone said the actual score was closer to 25-6, but that's not what the scorebook said. "We didn't want to beat them too bad this year because we were afraid they wouldn't play us next year," said Peggy Wilson and Jo Adkins, who helped the girls embarrass their bosses. The game was started when Tim Tomasik of the Muscular Dystrophy Association threw out the first ball to Romulus Mayor James Stewart. The game was played completely for the benefit of Muscular Dystrophy and both teams thanked Walter's Bar and Crova's for giving their game time so the benefit could be held for the third year in a row.—ANP photos.

'Suburbia' proposal shocks county leader

The head of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners appeared shocked last week upon learning that there is a movement afoot to split Wayne county into two counties — one of suburbs and one composed mostly of Detroit.

"This is news to me; on the surface I'm most surprised," said John Barr, chairman of the Board of Commissioners, as he was questioned about the proposal. Barr is an outcounty representative himself from the 21st District, including part of Westland, Inkster and Dearborn Heights.

"I'm unaware of any movement to separate the county into two counties," he said when he was told of a plan by Westland Rep. Thomas Brown to introduce such legislation in the State Legislature.

Brown hopes to introduce his bill within the next month to allow for a referendum on the question of dividing Wayne County into two separate counties.

Barr said the movement couldn't be very monumental yet since he's never head of it, adding that at first blush its appeared the chances of such a division are about as great as the chances "of the Upper Peninsula becoming a separate state".

He added that he hadn't weighed the pros and cons of the idea, but his initial reaction was: "I know of no advantages that a separate county would bring to Western Wayne County that we don't already have with Wayne County."

He said he believes the current structure of county government seems a adequate and countered point for point some of Brown's reasons for the split.

Suburban officials were upset about water rate hikes. However, Barr said separation will not solve the water problems because even if the suburbs were a separate county they would have to buy their water somewhere, probably from Detroit.

"Western Wayne County will never have its own water system, so even if they were separate they'd have to buy the service," he explained.

He added that "Detroit has nothing to do with the super sewer", and that county government as it now exists had nothing to do with the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority.

He insists that having "suburbia" as a separate county would have no impact on these issues.

However, Barr added: "If the time came when I could see Western Wayne County benefiting from such a separation, I'd be for it."

"I don't now see that need."

Other county commissioners representing the local area had different reactions.

Commissioner Royce Smith, whose 27th District includes Wayne, part of Westland, Canton, Van Buren and Belleville, was much more vehement in his response.

"I think it's an excellent idea,"

Smith said when questioned about Brown's proposed bill.

He said he has discussed the idea with Brown for some time. He maintains that the suburban cities pay a larger percent of the taxes, but don't get the larger amount of benefits.

He claims that it wouldn't cost as much to run a separate county, and he believes better services could be provided.

Commissioner Thomas Presnell, representative of the 20th District representing much of Westland and Garden City, was more reserved with his reaction.

Although saying that "the concept might be worth looking into", he said it would be too premature to take a stand on the issue until its ramifications could be explored.

Such a split would bring "a monument of problems" in setting up new courts and jails, and holding elections, and he questioned whether or not area residents would want to bear those costs.

He said the differences between the Detroit and suburban members of the Board of Commissioners are really not evident on most issues, although they have been at odds in others.

SECESSION: A hot issue in outcounty?

Another interesting wrinkle in the issue as pointed out by Westland Mayor Tom Taylor and others is an expected change in make-up of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners after the 1980 census. Unofficial statistics show that substantial numbers of persons have moved from Detroit to suburban communities. If this proves to be the case when the census is taken, Detroit will lose commissioners perhaps as many as three, and suburban areas will gain them.

The majority will then shift from Detroit commissioners to outcounty commissioners, and the problem of the so-called Detroit dominance would be gone.

Taylor said he would support the county splitting only as a last resort for the suburbs.

It would be "the last reasonable thing I would support" if all other means of cooperation failed, he said.

"If we continue to end up on the short end of the stick," such a drastic step may be necessary, he said.

However, he said he believes the Legislature is beginning to recognize that outcounty needs representation.

That feeling is evidenced in recent legislation requiring that outcounty representatives have a right to be appointed as members of the SEMTA board, he said.

Taylor added, however, that Brown's bill is sending a message to lawmakers.

"What Tom Brown is doing is putting the entire Legislature on notice that the Wayne County suburbs are not getting fair and equitable treatment in dealing with the city of Detroit."

"The bill would serve a good purpose if nothing more than to alert the Legislature that this is a real problem."

responded to the proposed legislation by saying that his "initial reaction is favorable" to such an idea.

He added that the mechanics of the plans would be quite complex and difficult to accomplish, involving division of assets and services.

But he said he is "enthusiastic about investigating the concept," and can see the reason and advantages of the division.

He noted that in recent months, the suburban elected leaders have developed a type of bond, with talk of mayors and supervisors organizing some type of group to represent suburban interests.

Nearly all of those interviewed said they could see how such a county split would take a long time to develop, and such a division would be a complex one to work out.

Even if the bill does not pass, it is obviously making the point that outcounty is unhappy.

Our readers respond to Bradley's column

To the Editor:

I am 100 percent in agreement with Jim Bradley's column of June 8.

Perhaps those who read about the school teacher and his perverse acts with 3rd graders will realize that Anita Bryant is 99 and 44-100 percent right.

To the Editor:

I have written before as president of Romulus Horsemanship Assoc.; but I wish to express my views as a child of God.

I know Jim Bradley is going to receive a lot of criticism from people for standing on God's law; but I'm certain the Lord will bless him for his efforts to serve Him.

I really don't know what to add to what Jim has said in his column (and I usually have something —). However, I do want to give you my support. I am in full agreement with you and feel Christians should stand up and be counted.

Too long Christians have been careful not to hurt anyone's feelings; but what about the Lord's feelings when he sees His children sitting quietly while immorality is loudly and blatantly pushed on us from all sides.

I've been reading Jeremiah and he sure wasn't very popular for telling the people how wicked they were. Who are we going to please — men or God?

I don't really think Christians examine themselves closely enough on this question. We say "God, of course!"; but let's really apply this question to our every day situations.

If we are really honest with ourselves, we may find there is room for improvement.

If you wish to use any of this letter feel free to do so.

In Christ's love,
Barbara Schultz,

Dear Mr. Brady,

As a concerned citizen and mother of two small children I am writing to tell you that I agree with your column.

Both my husband and I are totally fed up with sick people and their sick causes.

Anyone who believes that a "Gay" person is normal needs his head examined too.

I sometimes wish that we hadn't had any children at all rather than have them live in the future if this sort of thing keeps up.

All decent people should take a stand right now for what is morally right. If we don't there won't be any decent moral standards left.

This goes for everything from cheating in schools to letting murderers go free.

We cannot have a totally free society, that is just a dream. If we give too much freedom to too many people, soon there will be no freedom for anyone.

We must have fair and decent rules for people, not let them run wild as we seem to be doing now.

We'd better wake up now before it's too late and we lose everything.

Thank you for taking a stand for the decent things in life. Keep up the good work.

Huron hosts swim class

There will be two 5-week swimming classes at Huron High School, if enough people enroll in the classes. Because of a printing delay, the school wasn't able to get the information to the people before classes were scheduled to start Monday.

Those interested in enrolling in the classes, which include ages 6 months old through adults, should call 782-1777 as soon as possible, and no later than 6 p.m. Friday.

"The summer schedule is contingent upon the number that sign up," said a school spokesman. There are a variety of classes, including tots (6 months old) class, elementary, junior and high school age groups. Also, beginning and advanced life-saving courses are offered.

The class hours will be from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily, and the pool will be open to 10 p.m. Each class lasts one hour, and you do not have to be a resident of Huron School District to enroll.

The cost is $8 for all instructional classes and $20 for life saving courses. Huron High School is located at 32044 W. Huron River Drive, New Boston.

Barr backs formation of hospital authority

John Barr, chairman of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners, has endorsed a recommendation by a special task force that would create a new independent, or quasi-independent, public hospital authority to govern Wayne County General Hospital in Westland.

The special task force, appointed by Barr in February to help improve the hospital's financial, administrative and patient utilization aspects made its recommendations to the 27-member Board of Commissioners at a special meeting June 16.

The task force has recommended that the current governing board of the hospital be replaced with one of two alternatives:

—A new public hospital authority with full authority and responsibility for handling all purchasing, personnel, labor relations, health care, legal matters and other hospital functions independently of the rest of county government.

—A quasi-independent hospital authority within Wayne County government to which is delegated full authority and responsibility for operation of the hospital, similar to county road, bridge or airport authorities which operate with a degree of autonomy.

Currently, the hospital medical and administrative staff are responsible to the 5-member Board of County Institutions, which governs the hospital. Three members are appointed by county commissioners and two members by county auditors.

The structure of Wayne County government is not suited to running a complex quality health care institution, the task force said.

The decision-making process may be effective for running a governmental unit, but not for running a cost-effective, quality health care institution, the report stated.

Dr. Ramon Joseph, task force chairman, and chief of staff of internal medicine at Wayne County General Hospital, added: "The fault does not lie with the people on the various governing boards, but with the structure itself."

"There are no clear lines of authority. Basic management decisions must be cleared through numerous boards and commissions. Purchasing and personnel decisions are made outside the hospital."

The blue-ribbon task force is composed of 18 community leaders including Barr and two other county commissioners, Samuel A. Turner of Detroit and Royce E. Smith of Belleville.

All three commissioners support the task force recommendations.

Barr said: "For too long, we have viewed this hospital as just one of a number of county departments and not as a health care institution. We have not been able to demand the accountability or deliver the resources that a hospital requires."

Turner, who also serves as chairman of the County Board of Institutions, said: "Who governs Wayne County General is just Phase I in our search to solve the hospital's problems and meet the needs of thousands of citizens who depend upon it. We have reaffirmed the role of the hospital as a provider of care for the medically indigent and as an important teaching arm of the University of Michigan School of Medicine."

Smith added: "As independent board is an important step in taking the hospital out of the red. We have been unable to contain costs and have been limited in providing new necessary services."

Barr urged the Board of Commissioners to give "prompt and favorable consideration to the task force report."

The report has been referred to the Board of Commissioners' Human Resources Committee and to the Board of Institutions for review and recommendations to the full board.

Smith advocates opening hospital to private doctors

Wayne County Commissioner Royce E. Smith has advocated that qualified private physicians be granted full staff privileges at Wayne County General Hospital in Westland.

Smith of Belleville has declared that the hospital, which serves Western Wayne County, will be forced to close because of severe financial problems unless its revenue is increased.

"The biggest problem with the hospital is the income we have lost because of vacant beds," Smith said. "Last year, if we had had 100 more patients per day, the hospital would have brought in more than $8 million in addition revenue."

Smith has introduced a resolution before the Wayne County Board of Commissioners urging full staff privileges for community doctors "as the best way to make full use of this outstanding facility and bring in the additional revenue needed to save it."

The resolution, introduced at the June 16 county board meeting, Private practice physicians currently are not allowed to admit patients to the hospital, which has its own medical staff and is affiliated with the University of Michigan as a medical teaching and training facility.

"This is one of the finest hospitals in the world, but it's being grossly underused," Smith said. "The latest hospital financial statement shows a drop in patient days for the first quarter of 1977 from the same period in 1976."

"In plain talk, the hospital only had a 51 percent occupancy rate. No business can survive for long, operating at one-half its capacity."

Smith pointed out that Blue Cross only pays 102 percent of their allowable cost regardless of what the hospital charges.

"There is a Blue Cross deduction for vacant beds when they figure a hospital's allowable costs," he explained. "Therefore, for every vacant bed, we are losing patient revenue, as well as being assessed an insurance penalty."

Smith said a medical service plan proposed by the medical staff and the administration of the general hospital provides for the creation of a "counseling staff" composed of selected community physicians who would handle specialty and in-patient care.

"Even though we have some of the finest doctors in the Midwest at Wayne County General Hospital, the majority of people who must be admitted to a hospital want to be treated by their own physician," Smith said. "The medical service plan already has been approved by the Civil Service Commission. Time is running out. We can't afford to be patient any longer."

"The financial crunch of the county mandates that all revenues be increased as soon as possible — and that includes the hospital which takes such a large slice of the county budget," he added.

The 1976-77 hospital budget is $52.5 million.

Documentary focuses on 4 childbirth types

"Giving Birth," a graphic video documentary focusing on four couples and four different types of childbirth, airs July 9, at 5 p.m. on Channel 56, for an encore performance.

The four methods of childbirth explored are a standard hospital delivery with high technology and anesthesia, a Leboyer "birth without violence," a Caesarian and a midwife-assisted natural birth.

Interlaced with the stories of the four couples are interviews with experts on childbirth and its sociological significance, including Dr. Margaret Mead, Dr. Frederic Leboyer and others.

The documentary illustrates the joys and pains of childbirth, and concerns itself with the issues and questions surrounding new ideas and techniques.

"Something has been interfering with the naturalness of childbirth, possibly for several hundred thousand years, maybe longer," said anthropologist Margaret Mead. "There are cases when childbirth is surgery. But there's no reason why we should take a life process and treat it always like a disease."

"Giving Birth" shows the childbirth process in its entirety. It will be preceded by an announcement that the program contains language and subject matter of an adult nature. The program is telecast as part of the series "Documentary Showcase".

An editorial opinion

Teachers first responsibility has changed over the years

The recent announcement that Romulus schools would close at their usual time, in spite of a State Board of Education directive, provides the residents of that city with new insight as to what their teachers are really dedicated to.

The epidemic of black-board flu that swept through the Romulus school system deprived the students of that area of one week of education that their parents, and other taxpayers, had properly paid for. In addition, it placed the Romulus school board at odds with the state-mandated 180-day school year.

Teachers argued that there was no other means available to them to express their dissatisfaction with bogged-down negotiations over a new contract.

School administrators and taxpayers argued that since the state required a 180-day school term, the black board flu, that closed down the schools, would require the schools to remain open for one additional week. And, teachers that had called in sick and had been paid for the time they had missed, would also be paid for their services for that additional week, creating a situation that actually encouraged teacher work stoppages.

When teachers were requested to provide their services for that extra week, in order to satisfy state requirements, it was very interesting to note that the teachers union went on the record in strong opposition.

Very strange action by a group of people who claim to have the best interests of the students at heart!

If the case for the teachers' position was on solid ground, and we are not convinced that it is, it would have been more logical for the teachers union to concede, that in this instance, they were at best taking advantage of a bad situation, and making it worse.

Let's take a look at the history of the teaching profession. History is often able to shed light on current events.

Twenty years ago, before teachers unions, the profession was considered an honorable, but poor paying occupation. The average teacher worked hard at his or her job and at making ends meet as well, but considered himself a member of a select group, entrusted with molding the minds of this country's future generations.

The very reason that teachers unions had such a difficult time garnering recruits was due to the self image of teachers, placing themselves in the category of professional people, above unions.

With the general acceptance of teacher unions, coupled with the states' reluctance to enforce its own rules prohibiting teacher strikes, the unions eventually became more important to the teachers than the children that were entrusted to them.

Today, with the average teacher earning between $14,000 and $20,000, for nine months work (that averages between $336.50 and $480.75 per week), they can no longer claim they are not being adequately paid for their services. But, still they call in sick in such numbers that entire school systems are forced to close, and when they are asked to bear at least a portion of the burden that their actions have placed on the community, they refuse. True dedication. But to what?

It is true that it is impossible to place a dollar value on the effects of a good teacher, but it is equally difficult to calculate the long-range effects of their dedication to themselves.

Dedication to someone else or something else has historically brought out the best in man. Dedication to self has historically brought ruin.

Muscular Dystrophy ball game a success

To the Editor:

The third annual softball game for muscular dystrophy was a huge success again this year.

The ball game started off by young Tim Tomasik of the muscular dystrophy association, pitching the first ball to Mayor Stewart.

Fun was had by the participants as well as the spectators. Naturally the secretaries raced ahead in an 11-5 victory. "We didn't want to beat them too bad this year because we were afraid they wouldn't play next year."

We would like to thank everyone who participated in the game as well as the people who came to watch and donated to the muscular dystrophy association. Your donations were greatly appreciated.

Also, thanks to the two men's softball teams who gave us their game time. They are Walter's bar and Crova's.

Our special thanks to the Romulus Roman for their cooperation in articles to promote our softball games. "With these kind of people to work with, it's no wonder the game was a success again."

Thank you all again.

Observations about energy crisis

To the Editor:

I would like to make some observations about the energy problem, Carter's energy program, and the reflections that program throws on our political process. The philosopher John Dewey said that three things can be said about a situation or proposed policy: what is desirable, what is technologically feasible, and what is politically possible. Let us apply these criteria to the energy problem and Carter's proposed solution.

What is desirable in this case, is that no one be injured more than someone else benefits. That is, each person should pay the full costs of the benefits he receives.

Specifically, this generation should not commit an act that will hurt future generations more than it benefits itself. Neither should politically powerful sections or interests use their power to gain special benefits. Several technological restraints affect the energy problem. The relatively low efficiency of the auto engine dictates that a car population with a high average MPG will have to be composed of small cars. The high cost of solar cells prevents solar power from being a significant source of energy. The lack of adequate rail facilities make the projected expansion of coal production unlikely. The difficulty of designing coal burning facilities that meet clean air standards will reduce the number of new plants in a given area, reducing job creation. Inefficient oil recovery leaves 75 percent of the oil in the ground, oil that is too costly to produce. Similarly, the high cost of developing known reserves of natural gas prevent its production at present prices. Of course, political considerations are the final, limiting factor. And the design of Carter's energy program reveals what those political considerations are.

Every proposal is designed to shift energy costs to someone else. This generation of energy users is trying shifting its costs to future generations.

The gas tax-rebate scheme, fortunately modified by Congress, is a good example. It would, over the long term, reduce the growth in gasoline consumption. On the other hand, it diverts the revenue away from the oil companies where general equilibrium theory dictates it should go. Because the money is returned to the consumer, this generation is not paying the full cost of its gasoline. And it is not making adequate provision for the future.

The proposal to raise taxes on oil at wellhead is also a half-measure. Like the gas tax, it would raise prices to the consumer and reduce the growth of oil consumption. Unlike the gas tax, the tax on oil would have further benefits. Raising the price of oil to the world price will encourage the development of alternative sources of energy.

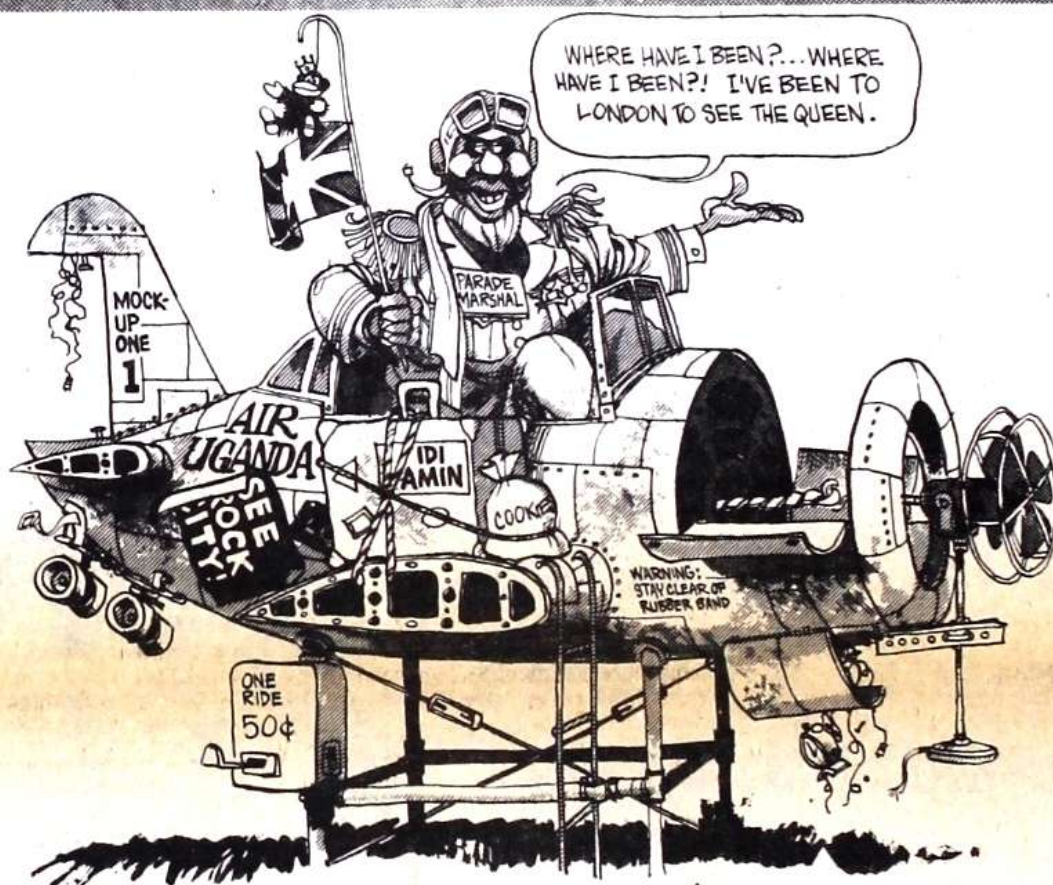

The one fuel whose production would not be encouraged, unless Congress deregulates it, is natural gas. Pegging its price at $1.75 per thousand cubic feet underprices it in relation to oil and encourages its consumption but not its production. But as with the gas tax, rebating the oil tax to the consumer reduces the infusion of capital into energy production. Here again, this generation benefits at the expense of the future and the Northeast benefits at the expense of the South and Southwest.

It is apparent that Carter tried to design an energy program that was politically palatable. He probably acted in the belief that the voter's capacity to put the public interest above immediate, personal interest is limited, and chose the short-term answer over the better, long-term solution. Lyndon Johnson acted in the same way in 1966, preferring to run large deficits, which ignited the severe inflation of the last ten years, rather than raise taxes.

Certainly Carter's program bears out John Adam's observation that "opinion tends to follow interest".

The popular sentiment that the cost of solving the energy problem should be paid by someone else is generated by self-interest. Some people's perception is so distorted by self-interest, that they believe the whole affair is a conspiracy by the oil companies. But by allowing their narrow interest to override the wider, long term public interest, the voters cast doubt upon their fairness and wisdom.

Sincerely yours,
C. E. Richards

Female alcoholics

There are such things

By RUSS TUTTLE
Director, Community Relations
Peoples Community Hospital Authority

In our third, and final, interview with Mrs. Balinski, we talked in depth about some of the prevailing psychological theory used in treating female alcoholics.

Two prominent researchers, N. H. Rathod and I. G. Thompson, were used as basic reference sources. They pointed out in the early 1970's that, "in fact, alcoholism for many women may be a secondary phenomenon superimposed on a tendency to severe depression. These findings are congruent with others that have indicated that depression, in general, is much more a female psychiatric syndrome than it is a male one."

Mrs. Balinski explained that because a female alcoholic tends to suffer more loathing and self contempt than does a male, it becomes more difficult for women alcoholics to recover. Additionally, this severe lack of self esteem may help explain why more women alcoholics than men make suicidal attempts; although women, principally because of the means employed, are not as successful in their suicide attempts as are men.

For instance, rarely does a woman use a gun or jump from a building. They tend to opt for overdoses of pills or other slower procedures which increase the possibility of assistance arriving before the woman expires.

There are statistics in the literature which show that six times as many women alcoholics attempt suicide as do men. Such a figure is not surprising when you consider that in upwards of 80 percent of all suicide attempts depression is the motivating factor; and it's been well established that women alcoholics suffer greater depression than men.

Ari Kiev, MD, head of the suicide unit at New York's Payne Whitney Psychiatric Clinic, has identified the female alcoholic (as well as the young drug abuser) as one of the high risk suicide groups he encounters in his practice.

Dr. Kiev said, "I believe that those who are drug and alcohol abusers are in fact making an attempt at self medication. Unfortunately, the agent they employ as 'medicine' is addictive and may well lead to an accidental expiration."

He further stated that the illness these people were attempting to alleviate is clinical depression — again the malady which is so common among women alcoholics.

According to Mrs. Balinski, "another syndrome which is often characteristic of female alcoholics is one of poor sexual identification or role confusion."

"Because," she said, "drinking is usually considered a male behavioral pattern, there are some therapists who postulate that the female alcoholic by drinking is attempting to assume a male role and thereby reject the traditional female role."

She said that some researchers have found that 75 percent of the females in their samples suffered from sex identity confusion which may be attributed to the rapidly changing societal concepts of sex roles in the contemporary society.

In this context, Roger Mogar writing in the 'International Journal of the Addiction' said, "These women use sex and alcohol to temporarily support (sic) a tenuous personal identity as a woman. This is not surprising in view of current cultural trends. Young women in society have great difficulty achieving a stable identity synthesis because of rapidly changing concepts of femininity. Feelings of alienation and insecurity are further compounded by high geographic and social mobility which tend to fragment generic families."

Although most of these women have learned to be independent and competitive, their social milieu provides few outlets for these traits. Furthermore, it is difficult to reconcile these tendencies with the conventional female role."

Mrs. Balinski said that research by Kinsey, Joan Curlee, and Sharon Wilsnack support the position of Mogar.

Wilsnack made an interesting observation in 1973 when she reported that "... alcoholic women identified with the traditional female role on a conscious level, but rejected that role unconsciously..."

It is Wilsnack's position that the potential female alcoholic experiences chronic doubts about her adequacy as a woman. These doubts, according to Wilsnack, arise in part from inadequate feminine identification on an unconscious level and they may be enhanced by acute threats to her sense of feminine adequacy.

Wilsnack also believes that the potential female alcoholic does not consciously reject her identity as a woman; instead, she consciously values traditional female roles. She may manage to cope with her fragile sense of feminine adequacy for a number of years, but when some new threat severely exacerbates her self doubts, she turns to alcohol in an attempt to gain artificial feelings of womanliness.

Mrs. Balinski said that a specific event seemed to precipitate a drinking episode among women.

"In 65 percent of the cases studied," she said, "that specific event or crisis was divorce or separation; an event which does not seem to affect men as drastically."

"Women," concluded Mrs. Balinski, "are generally far more dependent on the institution of marriage, and thus are certainly more vulnerable than the male partner."

This column concludes our three-part series on women and the different problems they face if they become addicted to alcohol.

In response to our mail of the past several weeks as we wrote about alcoholism, we plan next week to publish a drinkers' test — a sort of do-it-yourself exercise wherein you can possibly learn some things about your own drinking habits.

From the State Senate

'Kiddie Porn' legislation in the Senate

I am happy to report that legislation I introduced should soon provide Michigan residents with the kind of tough laws we need to prohibit the use of children in pornographic material.

The two bills that I introduced to effectively stop such exploitation of children have been approved unanimously by the Senate Judiciary Committee and sent to the floor of the Senate. I expect quick approval by the Senate of this much-needed child protection legislation.

Specifically, my legislation would make it a crime to solicit, force or entice children under 18 into taking any part in the production of sexually explicit visual material; to participate in the production of pornographic materials involving children; or to market it.

I want to emphasize that it is not my intention to interfere with the First Amendment's freedom of speech guarantees. But I am certain that all rational persons would agree that those guarantees do not include the right to exploit young children sexually.

I think we also would agree that society cannot permit young children to suffer the emotional psychological and social harm which they might experience if forced or enticed to participate in these lewd activities.

As I see it, two facts make the enactment of the bills I have introduced a necessity.

First, the use of children in the production of pornographic materials is increasing.

Although it is difficult to obtain accurate statistics regarding this type of child abuse since, of course, many cases are never reported, it has been estimated that some 1.2 million children nationwide have been exploited in this manner.

In Michigan alone, police have investigated cases in which children have been involved in the production of sexually explicit visual material in 12 locations, including Oakland County, Muskegon, Flint, Paw Paw and Traverse City.

In Muskegon, 80 children are believed to have been involved and in Flint, 30.

Secondly, it also is a fact that our present laws are not strong enough to deter smut peddlers who are interested in making a fast buck by exploiting children.

To prevent this kind of especially repugnant crime from occurring in Michigan, my legislation contains the following penalties:

—Anyone who allows, arranges or attempts to permit children under 18 to engage in an abusive sexual act for a commercial purpose would be guilty of a felony punishable by a jail term of up to 20 years, a fine of not more than $20,000 or both.

—Persons who make or finance or attempt to produce or bankroll obscene material involving youths also would be subject to the same punishments.

—Anyone who plays an "incidental" role in the production or financing of pornographic material involving children under 18 would be liable for a jail sentence of up to 7 years and a $10,000 fine.

—Persons who market or display child pornography also would be guilty of a felony punishable by a maximum 7-year sentence and a $10,000 fine.

Furthermore, my legislation would require child care providers who suspect any abuse, including the use or display of children in pornographic materials, to report incidents to the Department of Social Services. The Department, in turn, would be required to report cases to local prosecuting attorneys.

In addition, any agency investigating child abuse at a public or private facility or institution would be required to report to local prosecutors cases in which the use of children for pornographic purposes is suspected.

Prosecutors would then determine whether suspects should be prosecuted in court under criminal statutes.

The need for tough laws to outlaw the production and selling of child pornography has become urgent.

By State Senator David A. Plawecki
12th District

I believe that my legislation will provide the necessary safeguards to protect our children from this danger since it effectively covers all aspects of this lascivious crime, including the initial soliciting of children to engage in the production of pornography, the actual production of obscene materials and the selling of the pornography.

From the State House

Suburban customers of Detroit water get help

Suburban customers of the Detroit Water Department would have more of a voice in how the department is run under legislation recently approved by the House.

A package of two bills approved and sent to the Senate would give suburban communities representation of the Board of Water Commissioners, require public hearings in advance of any planned rate increases, and require a yearly independent audit of the water department.

The Detroit water department provides water service to 94 communities in Southeast Michigan and sewage service to 60 communities. It serves more than 40 per cent of the entire population of the State of Michigan.

Well over half of the department's customers live outside the City of Detroit, yet these now-Detroit customers have virtually no say in how the department operates and almost no input into rate increases.

The seven members of the Board of Water Commissioners are presently appointed by the mayor of Detroit.

One of the bills approved by the house would expand the board to nine members, with five chosen by the mayor of Detroit and four elected by an assembly of all of the cities, townships and villages, other than Detroit, that are served by the system.

Each community would have one assembly vote for each 10,000 population, which all communities entitled to at least one vote.

The five Detroit members could be removed by the mayor without cause. The remaining four members could be removed only by the assembly that elected them, with the approval of a majority of the local units of government in the assembly.

The bill would help to ensure that communities other than Detroit have a larger voice in the operation of the department. The claim to this expanded role is well justified by the enormous number of non-resident customers served by the system.

At present, those communities other than Detroit have virtually no control over the rates set by the city. By expanding the board and requiring that a certain number of its members be non-residents, the bill would enable these communities to have more of a say in advising the Detroit City Council on rate-setting.

The companion bill would require the water department to hold at least one public hearing at least 120 days before a scheduled rate increase is scheduled to go into effect. Notices of the public hearings would have to be printed prominently in a daily newspaper of general circulation no less than 30 days before the hearing.

The hearing requirement could be waived only when the establishment of a water or sewer rate is necessary for debt retirement under outstanding bond obligations.

Realistically, the public hearings may not prevent a proposed rate hike from going into effect, but they would allow non-Detroit customers to have some input into the rate-setting process. Presently, this process often appears to be arbitrary.

The same bill would mandate that the books of the water department be audited annually by an independent auditor selected by the Michigan Department of Treasury. The Water Department would bear the cost of the audit. The bill removes the requirement for a city audit of the department.

The results of the audit would be open to the public, with copies of the audit sent to the governing body of each city, township and village served by the system, and to the legislature. This would have to be done before September each year.

This would ensure that communities served by the department would have reliable information on its affairs. At present, many of these communities are experiencing difficulty in obtaining information concerning the justification of increases and the financing of proposed capital improvement programs, both of which have a great impact on those communities and their rate-paying residents.

The public hearing and audit requirements would expose any deficiencies in the process and the management of the department, or they would build faith in the department's integrity.

Those communities other than Detroit which are served by the water department have a legitimate claim to know about and participate in the affairs of the department. Not only do they pay a considerable share of its expenses, but the department has benefitted in the past from both State and Federal funds. It can no longer be considered a private department of the City of Detroit.

The house has approved several other bills which affect local government. One of them is the grants and transfers appropriations bill for next fiscal year. As sent to the Senate, it contains $500 million for general revenue sharing with local governments, as well as $29 million for Detroit and its libraries, art institute and museum and $3 million for cities which provide fire, police and other services for state buildings.

The Bald Eagle Speaks

CB mania, a skulking disease of the mouth

By BOB AMEEN

Writers, if they were forced to tell the truth, would have to admit that they offer no area of expertise other than to comment upon a multitude of subjects in a general fashion. This writer is no exception.

This week, I would like to comment "generally" on the current CB craze—the fanatic desire of almost everyone who drives a car to own a citizen's band radio.

A CB, from what I can grasp, is a radio which receives much like your regular car radio, but which also transmits much like the radio station to which you listen.

Formerly, CBers had a total of 23 channels over which they could receive and transmit. But, the glut of persons using them became so great that newer models now carry 40 channels, thus permitting an even greater symphony of pops, crackles, whines, whistles and barrage of nearly unintelligible chattering.

CBs differ from most other types of radio receivers and transmitters in that they operate on very low wattage, which limits the distance which they can be heard and reach to only a few miles. For this last act of divine providence, many of us should be thankful.

To make matters even worse, former President Gerald Ford was instrumental in getting a ruling passed that permits anyone who buys a CB to get a temporary license by merely sending an application in to the proper federal agency. (If I recall correctly, it seems that the President's wife, Betty, wanted to operate her own CB and her husband's intervention, supposedly in behalf of CBers over the nation, gave her the legal excuse to twist dials and chatter over the air waves.)

In fact, the mere act of sending in the application provided the authorization for anyone to operate a CB. The permanent license was supposed to be obtained at a later date.

But, as easy and simple as it is to get a temporary license, most of the CBers who spend hours each day riding around in their cars making like Walter Winchell or Paul Harvey don't even bother to do that. They just send and receive at will without a license and will continue to do so because there is no feasible way for the federal government to enforce the license requirement.

From what I can determine from those friends and acquaintances who have CBs, most of them are purchased in an effort to avoid being detected by radar and speed traps on the open highway. The CBers have their own peculiar palaver and system of communicating with each other on the highway and warning those behind them of cops or "Smoke the bear" further up the road.

Also, from what I could find out, most CBers have succeeded in escaping many a speeding ticket by listening to their buddies on the highway.

In any event, it is no secret that CBs are being misused and abused by millions of motorists throughout the nation. It would make sense to the most obtuse person that such a piece of communication should be regulated by strict laws, licenses limited only to those who have a legitimate reason for using them and that regulatory laws should be rigidly enforced.

How that would have any hope of being accomplished at this late date is beyond human comprehension.

It's not just the oftentimes childish adults who enjoy "broadcasting" and receiving on these electronic marvels, but just about every teenager old enough to drive a car.

With all of the other abuses which go on in different segments of our society today, maybe the current CB craze can be dismissed as "a sign of the times." In this writer's opinion, it's time for some new signs!

On the brighter side

Gulping through Belleville

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

Gulp!
I just received one of the best invitations of my life.

Last Saturday I was invited to take part in a "Celebrity Strawberry Shortcake Eating Contest" in Belleville with "famous members of the Press, TV and Radio". (How did I get in there?)

Since I take care of the news for the Belleville Enterprise and am an Associated Newspapers columnist, I was contacted by the promoters of last weekend's National Strawberry Festival and asked to take part.

Now just between you and me, I'm a light eater. (I eat any time it's light—sometimes when it's dark, too). But really now, I'm not a fast eater at all and that's what this contest was all about. I don't eat fast, I just eat "long".

The competition was pretty fierce. Charley Manos, columnist of the Detroit News and David Whiting of the Ypsi Press, along with Doug Bruckner of Channel 4 TV, Jim Richendollar, principal of Belleville North Junior High, and Robert Tontolo, Belleville Mayor Pro-tem, were contestants.

Nancy McCauley, the cute little gal from Channel 2 was also entered. (I got to sit next to her!) I was so excited I could hardly catch my breath, but I managed to do so just as the contest started.

We were each given a four-pound strawberry shortcake that looked more like a small red mountain. The contestant with the lightest shortcake after the 10-minute time limit would be declared the winner. Now I'll be honest with you, I'm afraid I lost before the contest even started.

Contrary to popular opinion, I don't have a very big mouth. (Please don't write me letters on that one!). Besides, I like to taste each delightful morsel, roll it around on my tongue and savor its flavor. Since we didn't get points for "fitness", I just had to cram it down my throat.

And that's where I was at a loss. I mean, I don't cram food down—ever. Well, hardly ever. Just ask my fellow writers here at the newspaper. After everyone finishes their lunch, they all look over at me and say, "Jim, are you only half done?"

Then I have to apologize and explain that during my long years of carrying mail I had to gulp down my food at lunchtime. As a result, my stomach is very "sensitive" and now I like to taste the food as it goes down.

Besides, the obstacle of my small stomach (on the inside), I faced Charley Manos and Jim Richendollar, who I felt had a built-in edge. They've enlarged their tummies by whooping down "home-made" food. Manos, being the refined Greek that he is, probably has practiced for years on Moussaka and stuffed grape leaves.

Nancy McCauley, I'm sure, has denied herself the indulgence and carries a more trim figure than her male counterparts. I guess you'd describe me differently, I'm what Jane Russell describes in her TV commercials as "one of us full-figure persons". But I have a question. How can my stomach be so large on the outside and yet so tiny on the inside?

With a large crowd cheering us on, I felt real nervous competing against these "famous" contestants. I was an "unknown" compared to these "heavyweight" (both ways) media people.

I was happy (and relieved) when big Jim Richendollar was declared the winner with only four ounces left on his plate. If you were there to watch the contest, or saw films of it on the 6 and 11 o'clock TV 2 news, you had no trouble recognizing me.

I was the one with the "doggie bag" sitting next to Nancy McCauley with my plate still half full when the count-down ended.

Reflections

That certainly does figure

By JOYCE HAGELTHORN

Just before the snow melted, one of my friends remarked about the attractive undulating hills in my backyard.

"How beautiful," she gushed. "Hardly anyone I know has undulating hills in the middle of their backyard... and right in town, at that."

That's when I dragged her in the house lest the sun which was peeping out of the clouds would melt the snow and show her my kids' junk yard which made those undulating hills.

"Oh, wow, you are really unique," she said the minute she walked into the living room and caught a glimpse of the den through the wide open door.

"Why do you say that?" I asked as I kicked five pairs of shoes under the sofa. "No one I know decorated their den with ski's and snowshoes," she said as she went through the door.

"Oh my," her voice floated back. "I seem to have gotten caught in something. 'Don't move,' I shouted running to her aid. 'It probably isn't alive yet, there hasn't been much heat or sunlight this past winter.'"

She was caught in my kids' badminton set he had gotten out just in case spring was coming soon.

"Let me take you out to lunch," I said to her as a way of rewarding her. "Only we'll have to take my kid's car since he took mine to Florida last week."

After crawling out of the den, trying to miss the ski poles and the bowling balls, we got through the snow boots and the tennis racquets resting in the living room.

"This really is a jazzy looking car," she said, running her hand over the white paint that had, somehow, survived the winter.

"He worked hard on it," I said putting the key in and shifting it into reverse.

"Hey," she shouted. "What are you going backwards for?"

"This car only starts in reverse," I told her.

"It figures," she answered as she pulled a thread from the badminton set out of her stocking. "It sure does figure!"

Harris brings county government to people

Wayne County Commissioner Edgar Harris of Taylor has been appointed to the Inter-County Highway Commission.

The commission coordinates the activities of 7-county road commissions in southeastern Michigan, particularly in the areas of highway planning and compatible right-of-ways.

The appointment was made by John Barr, chairman of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners, who said: "Commissioner Harris has the experience, knowledge and interest to do an outstanding job in this area. He is chairman of the Board of Commissioner's Public Works Committee and has served on several committees concerned with planned growth and development."

Harris said he was looking forward to his new assignment.

"It's important to have interaction among county road commissions," Harris said. "when you're building a highway in one county, you don't want it ending in somebody's apple orchard."

"And, more importantly, you want to strengthen the accessibility between counties without damaging the environment or the planned development in the communities involved."

Harris will begin his new duties with a careful study of the current inter-county road plan.

"I'm a strong advocate of seeking local opinion before you start major construction projects. I want to assure all county residents that this philosophy will prevail in this new position," he said.

Harris also has served on the Wayne County Industrial and Commercial Development Advisory Council and the Inter-agency Task Force for Detroit-Wayne County Riverfront Development.

Students garner college degrees

Belleville residents Priscilla Flotte, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Flotte of Denton Road, and James Friar, the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Friar Sr. of West Huron River Drive, were awarded degrees May 21 from Michigan Technological University in Houghton.

Miss Flotte received a bachelor of science degree in forestry, while Friar earned his bachelor of science degree in biological sciences.

In other college news:

Several Belleville residents were awarded their "sheep skins" in commencement ceremonies Saturday at Washtenaw Community College.

Collecting degree were Catherine A. Barlage, Cynthia L. Cado, Michael E. Cobb, Shirley M. Day, Loreta M. Geldys, Janet M. Knight, John E. Lovelace, Donald A. Stopa and Wallace T. Thompson.

Belleville resident Michael E. Kossin has been awarded an associate or arts degree from Northwood Institute in Midland. He received his degree during commencement ceremonies May 15.

Jeffrey Liedel of Edgedale, Belleville, has received his bachelor of science degree in business administration from Bowling Green University in Bowling Green, Ohio. He received his degrees during commencement ceremonies June 11.

And in school news, Sue Orgovan of Romulus is participating in the Blues Lake Fine Arts Camp's International Band, which will present concerts in eight European cities this summer.

The concerts are part of a 28-day goodwill tour of Denmark, Norway, Sweden and northern Germany.

I, James M. Reeves, Clerk of Sumpter Township, do hereby certify that the above is a true copy of the minutes taken at a Regular Board Meeting held on June 14, 1977, at 23483 Sumpter Road, Belleville, Michigan 48111.

ROBERT K. DEMSKI, SUPERVISOR JAMES M. REEVES, CLERK

Attorney general says

Use of false ID costs residents millions

The criminal use of false identification has become a problem of crisis proportions, costing the citizens of Michigan millions of dollars annually.

And according to Michigan Attorney General Frank Kelley, a growing number of criminals and organized crime figures are using false credentials to commit or aid in the commission of such crimes as welfare fraud, illegal immigration, drug trafficking, passing bad checks, phony credit cards and hundreds of other offenses.

The major problem surrounding the use of false identification is that it is a "hidden crime" in that the victims often are not even aware of the fact that they have been victimized, he said.

In order to prevent the abuses of false identification, comprehensive federal, state, and local action must be coordinated to prevent such crimes, Kelley added, saying that such action would include new federal and state legislation, an overhaul in the way in which certified copies of birth certificates and driver's licenses are issued, the matching of birth and death certificates, uniform identification standards for welfare applicants, verification of a suspect's identity before he is released on bond and the increased use of electronic fund transfer systems.

Such comprehensive action will require time and study, but Michigan citizens still can do several things to prevent criminals from taking advantage of false identification, Kelley said. Among those things are:

— Carefully scrutinize canceled checks and checking accounts to insure that the amount debited to an account is accurate and that the check was legitimately written on the account;

— Carefully scrutinize credit card statements in the same manner;

— Report loss of stolen identification cards such as driver's license, Social Security card or other identification to the government agency involved.

"False identification is a real problem," he said. "It shields criminals and hurts everyone because of higher prices that become necessary when merchants are victims of false identification."

"The combatting of this $10 billion a year criminal activity will take public concern, awareness and affirmative action. To stop this type of activity, we as citizens must be willing to be on guard for the abuses of false identification, and report their occurrence to the proper authorities."

Look to the Future

Philippians 3:13-14 (Living Bible)... "Forgetting the past and looking forward to what lies ahead, I strain to reach the end of the race and receive the prize for which God is calling us up in heaven because of what Christ Jesus did for us."

Someone has said: "Today is the first day of the rest of your life so make the most of it." The Apostle Paul felt somewhat the same way and wanted God's best for his life. Realizing that there are attainments to be reached, Paul lived in the future instead of the past and he compared his life to a race toward a goal. In a race the runner forgets the ground he has gone over and occupies his heart and mind with what still needs to be accomplished to win. In the spiritual life, a forgetfulness of the past is essential to progress in the future. Forgetting here does not mean to erase completely from the memory.

We need to forget our failures lest they quench improvements. The Bible declares we need a new start because we belong to a sinful race, because we personally have sinned, and because we cannot trust our hearts, for even they are deceitful. There is one factor in the spiritual life, the precious Holy Spirit who can put all past experiences to silence. Therefore we are encouraged not to regulate our hope by the failures of the past but by God's grace which is sufficient for us to face the future.

Now, I'm a firm believer that our memory is a precious gift and without it progress would be impossible. Repentance is a Godly sorrow for sin committed against God and once we ask God's forgiveness or that sin, it need not be repeated. Can we safely forget past sins? Yes, for the Bible says in Psalms 103:12 that "He removes them from us as far as the East is from the West."

We also need to beware lest the memory of past successes and attainments also detain us from higher goals. There is a temptation to make the past the standard for the future and in doing so we cut down all the possibilities of the present and the future.

It was well said by someone that it would be better to forget our whole life, sins and all, than to look back with a sense of satisfaction. Contentment with the past is fatal to all progress. It is the looking back that endangers the climber who is passing upwards. His one hope of reaching the summit is by forgetting the things behind him and grinding on.

Paul failed to let his past dog him and he pressed on for a glorious future. The person who refuses to be distracted by the past and sets himself steadily forward to fulfill the mission God has given him, will find in God the secret of power.

Paul says: "I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus." There can be no half-heartedness. Noah built his ark because he set his heart on the work. Abraham lived a pilgrim life because he set his heart on a city that had a foundation. If you are going to live a Christian life, you are going to have to reach forth for those things which are before you and forget about the past, and press toward the mark.

Scout Pack 739
holds last meeting

It was the last pack meeting until September for members of Cub Scout Pack 739 of Merriman Elementary School, who gathered May 24.

Cubmaster Paul C. Michael started off the final meeting of the school year by having committee members introduce themselves. Serving as committee chairman is Ron Jarvis, with Diana Jarvis as denleader coach, Rose Burke as secretary and who will be replaced in September by Lorraine Schraeder, Ron Kovacs in advancement and Sharon Michaels, public relations.

A discussion of the pack's summer activities followed. Among the warm weather activities scheduled for the group are a hike and picnic Saturday at Silver Lake, a Cub Day Camp from 9 a.m. to 12 p.m. July 11-14 and a Tiger baseball game on July 23.

Several members of the Pack also earned Scout-O-Rama '77 patches for participating in the event, held June 11-12 at the Michigan State Fairgrounds.

The Pack also concluded its fund-raising event. The Cubs netted 10 cents for each Mr. Pott pot scrubber, which reportedly sold quickly. The money was awarded to the Scouts at the conclusion of the meeting.

Nineteen Cubs also earned awards at the meeting. They were Pat Valley, Bear patch and one gold arrow; Mike Pogats, Bear patch and one gold and two silver arrows; Robbie Harrison, Bear patch and one gold and one silver arrow; James DeBaeke, advanced to Webelos and one gold and two silver arrows; Bobby O'Bryan, one gold arrow; Will Cianfarani, advanced to the Webelos and a 2-year pin; Kevin

Southwestern Michigan has spelunking and wine tasting

(This is the fifth in a series of 15 weekly articles on bicycle touring through Michigan. These features are designed to encourage Michigan tourism and promote bicycling near population centers.)

Wine-tasting, hang-gliding, spelunking and a futuristic look at a nuclear power plant are among adventures awaiting bicyclists on a 134-mile circle tour through southwestern Michigan, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

The route follows the Lake Michigan shoreline and its towering sand dunes, meanders along the St. Joseph River and traverses mile upon mile of vineyards, orchards and corn fields.

Most of the cycling is along lightly traveled roads that pass state parks with white sandy beaches. There also are glimpses of industrialized sections of Benton Harbor, Niles and South Haven.

Cyclists may choose to take only the 37-mile Watervliet-South Haven-Benton Harbor loop via M-140 and the Blue Star Highway. M-140 runs through rural towns and past small farms. Blue Star Highway hugs Lake Michigan's tree-lined shore, with Van Buren State Park's fine beach, camping and picnicking facilities situated just three miles south of South Haven.

En route to Benton Harbor-St. Joseph from South Haven, there are two more parks—Benton Township and Rockv Gap—where cyclists can rest and enjoy the beauty of Lake Michigan.

At St. Joseph, 25 miles south of South Haven, Lake Boulevard Park hugs the shoreline, overlooking the St. Joseph River's ship-turning channel and the fishing boats out on the lake. There are park benches and a band shell for summer concerts.

B.L. 94 takes cyclists out of St. Joseph to the Red Arrow Highway, where the Scenic Lookout Park at the south city limits offers another chance to rest before starting the 7-mile ride to the Donald C. Cook Nuclear Power Plant on a bluff overlooking Lake Michigan just north of Bridgman.

Wednesdays through Sundays, the adjacent Cook Nuclear Center gives free 45-minute presentations on electricity and nuclear energy, or visitors can just browse among the exhibits, including one of a wrist watch-sized television. Outdoors, there is a patio and lake overlook area with picnic tables, or visitors can use the indoor snack bar. The center is scheduled to be closed June 20-June 28 while new programs are installed in the three multi-media theaters.

From Bridgman, it is a 4-mile ride to Warren Dunes State Park and its towering sand dunes, where daredevils with huge kite-like structures strapped to their backs soar into the air when the wind is right. On weekends, hang-gliding lessons are given for a fee.

Just a quarter mile south of Warren Dunes, cyclists turn off Red Arrow Highway and onto Brown-town Road for the trek eastward into Michigan's wine country. It is a 12-mile ride to the Tabor Hill Winery via Brownstown, Gardner and Mt. Tabor roads.

Half-hour to 40-minute tours of the winery, plus wine-tasting, are offered daily from 12 to 5:30 p.m. There are picnic tables and visitors can sample any wine in the house.

From Tabor Hill, it is a 5-mile ride via Mt. Tabor, Snow Road and the Red Bud Trail through picturesque vineyards and along the winding St. Joseph River to Bear Cave Resort north of Buchanan.

For $1 on weekends from Labor Day to Nov. 1 and daily from Memorial Day through Labor Day, amateur spelunkers—cave explorers—are taken on half-hour guided tours of the cavern to see stalactites and other rock formations of varying colors and to cool off in the 58-degree year-around temperature.

Bear Cave Resort offers camping, canoe rental and picnicking on the banks of the St. Joseph River, and there is a general store to replenish supplies.

From Bear Cave Resort to Niles, it is a 7-mile scenic ride along the St. Joseph via Buchanan and Niles-Buchanan Road. In Niles, the route turns northward and continues 15 miles to Dowagiac via M-51. Campgrounds are located north of Niles and just north of the M-152 intersection.

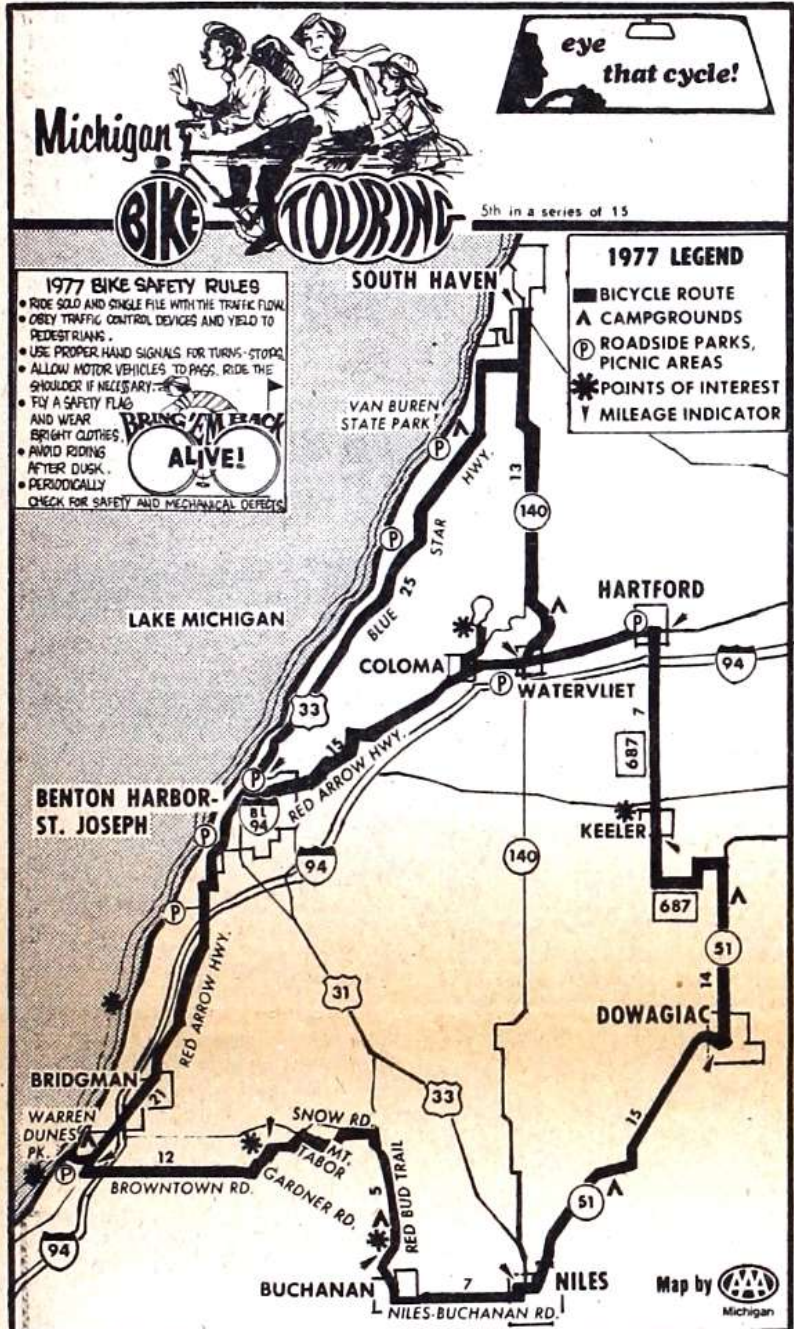

Nine miles north of Dowagiac, take C.R. 687 west and north past five miles of vineyards to Keeler, home of the Bronte Winery and Vineyards. Bikers can take the half-hour tour year-around and see the huge wooden barrels once owned by mobster Al Capone before more wine-tasting.

Continuing north on C.R. 687, there are about seven more miles of vineyards before reaching Hartford and its delightful city park with a stream running through it and picnic tables and baseball diamonds.

The return to Benton Harbor via Red Arrow Highway takes cyclists through Watervliet, where there is another lovely park in the center of town, and through Coloma, where a short side trip to Paw Paw Lake and Deer Forest reveals tame deer, trout ponds and picnic groves.

From there it is just eight miles back to Benton Harbor via Red Arrow Highway past more farmland, orchards and rural towns. Cyclists will find motels all along the route, and there are private campgrounds in addition to the two state parks.

Bicyclists should pace themselves according to their ability. The League of American Wheelmen estimates the average bicyclist can cover 35 to 50 miles a day with ease. A card and pamphlet containing bicycle safety tips are available free at all Automobile Club of Michigan officers.

Bicyclists on a 134-mile Southwest Michigan circle tour can try wine-tasting, hang-gliding, spelunking or sightseeing at a nuclear power plant. Bikers follow the Lake Michigan shore and pedal past vineyards and orchards, catching brief glimpses of industrialized sections of Benton Harbor, Niles and South Haven. For a 97-mile trip, Automobile Club of Michigan suggests cyclists pedal from Benton Harbor to Niles and back via Hartford and Watervliet. There are campgrounds at Van Buren and Warren Dunes state parks on Lake Michigan and at other sites along the way. Motels are available at nearly every town on the route. Try winetasting at the Tabor Hill Winery or at Bronte's in Keeler, go spelunking (cave exploring) at Bear Cave near Buchanan, see the futuristic exhibits at Cook Nuclear Center near Bridgman or take hang-gliding lessons from atop the sand dunes at Warren Dunes.

Cruise views nature

An evening nature cruise aboard the Island Queen on Kent Lake in Kensington Metropark near Milford will be held at 8 p.m. tomorrow.

Park naturalist Bob Hotelling will discuss human and natural history and visitors will have an opportunity to see geese and other wildlife.

The 1-hour trip cost $1 per person. The cruise starts at the Boat Rental Building. Persons should bring binoculars and have cameras and dress according to the weather. In the event of rainy weather, the cruise will be cancelled.

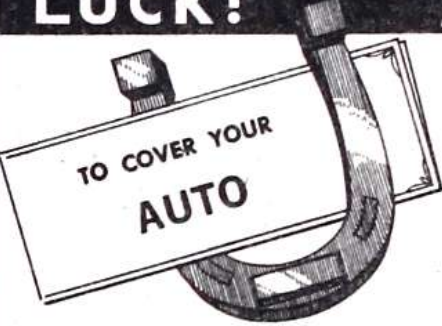

Advance registration is required. Contact the Kensington Metropark Nature Center at 685-1561 (Milford).

TODAY'S Real Estate
by Phylliss M. Crabtree
An easement is an agreement to let somebody use part of your property for some specific purpose—permission to drive through a back lot to get to another parcel of land, for example. That kind of easement usually is described in the deed and it is considered to run with the land; that is, it will apply to later buyers as well. The only way it can be revoked is when both parties agree to end it. Make sure the license you grant is in writing and clearly spells out the terms, how long your neighbor can use the land, how you may revoke or renew the license, and whether or not it applies to just him or to others as well.
Curiosity seekers will be ringing your door bell if you put your own sign in front of your home. Avoid this needless confusion by calling CENTURY 21 COMMUNITY REALTORS, 10675 Belleville Road. As your agent, we screen the lookers from the qualified buyers—this saves you wasted time and trouble. Our office is open 7 days a week from 9 to 9. Phone 697-2121.

For cancer patients

MCF work alleviates suffering, worry

"If we can help one another, we can alleviate some of the suffering and worry associated with cancer—and truly help ease the burden of Detroit-area citizens."

"But we can't do it alone. We need help," said Sharon Klein, chief of the Michigan Cancer Foundation's (MCF) Patient and Family Care Service.

MCF nurses and social workers offer counseling and rehabilitation programs for cancer patients and their families. Cancer Care Teams help care for some terminally ill cancer patients at home, and the MCF staff works closely with doctors and hospitals to help cancer patients.

But according to Ms. Klein, there are many other services that only volunteers can provide.

"They are the helping hands we need," she said. "Doctors care for the body and clergymen care for the spirit. We can help with nursing, emotional, social and financial problems. But who can cut the grass, or cook a meal or sew cancer dressings? Who can transport patients to and from treatment centers?"

"For patients who are confined to their home or bed, who can read to them, do their grocery shopping or be their friend?"

"We rely on our Volunteer Corps for these things. And though some of these might seem like little things, to the patient facing cancer, these services can provide a quality of life that would otherwise be impossible. They can make the difference between despondency and the desire to fight for life."

There are many MCF programs for volunteers. Through the Transportation Program, volunteers donate their time and use of their cars to drive cancer patients to and from treatment centers. The Compassionate Visitor program — currently operating at the MCF's East Service Center — offers volunteers a chance to give patients personal help by shopping, preparing meals, doing errands, being a friend and listening to seriously ill cancer patients.

Volunteers also help staff the MCF's nine unit offices — to answer phones and distribute the equipment cancer patients sometimes need, such as wheel chairs, beds, crutches, colostomy supplies and dressings.

The MCF's Breast Cancer and Oral Cancer Detection Centers both use volunteers to take medical histories and escort patients through the examinations.

Under the new, community-wide cancer control program, CANCER ACTION NOW, the MCF has pledged to give cancer patients the best care as soon as they need it and to insure that no one ever has to face cancer alone. According to Ms. Klein, these goals will only become a reality through a unified community effort.

"We need everyone's support if the program is going to work. Professionals and volunteers need to join together to form a chain of caring. Cancer is a disease that affects too many people for any of us to remain apathetic or unconcerned," Ms. Klein said.

If you can give the gift of your time and would like to volunteer for any MCF services, call any of the nine unit offices from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. weekdays. Or, for further information call — toll-free — 1-800-462-9191.

CANCER ACTION NOW is co-sponsored by the Michigan Cancer Foundation and the American Cancer Society and is funded by the National Cancer Institute and Detroit's United Foundation.

Efforts recognized

Several members of the Romulus North Junior High School Band recently accepted accolades from the City Council in recognition of the musicians attaining a superior rating in the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association District 12 Band Festival. The City Council unanimously approved a resolution recognizing the band's achievement, and overall No. 1 rating, and

New car operation costs motorist 10.3 percent more

Buying a new car? Be prepared. The Michigan motorists who buy a 1977 car is getting significantly improved fuel economy, but that new car will cost him or her 10.3 percent more to own and operate than a new model did two years ago, according to the Automobile Club of Michigan.

Summer food plan offered

Communities United for Action (CUFA) will sponsor a summer food service for children, a program designed to provide cold lunches for youths 18 years and younger living in the out-county area.

Eligible residents of Dearborn, Wayne, Westland, Inkster, Romulus and Sumpter Township will be able to take in the program. Lunch sites, as yet unlocated, will be placed within the participating communities.

The $91,000 program, which is scheduled to begin Monday, will serve about 2,500 youngsters during the summer months.

CUFA will monitor the lunch deliveries and general administration of the program, but neighborhood groups will provide the lunch sites and supervision.

"In this manner, our agency can augment the ongoing summer activities of existing community or church groups," said H. Carl Hollis, CUFA deputy director. "For example, if a neighborhood group already is operating a youth recreation program, we can provide free lunches for the participants."

The youngsters must come from an area where at least one-third of the residents are economically disadvantaged and where covered shelter is needed in case of inclement weather. Youngsters also must eat their lunches at the site.

"This is our third year of operating the program and we've been very successful with it," Hollis said. "There's still the opportunity, although, for additional neighborhood groups to participate."

"If community or church leaders would like to benefit from this program, they can contact me at 292-2110. I'd welcome their input and participation."

"It now costs state motorists 20.2 cents a mile to operate their cars compared to 18.3 cents per mile in 1975," said Auto Club Touring Manager Joseph Ratke. "For the motorist who drives 10,000 miles annually, his operating costs in 1977 will jump to $2,019, a rise of nearly $200 in two years."

An auto driven 20,000 miles will cost its owner $2,779, or 13.9 cents per mile driven. The reason for the lower cents-per-mile figure at 20,000 miles is that fixed costs (insurance, depreciation and license fees) are basically the same as for 10,000 miles.

Ratke cited increased fixed costs, particularly depreciation, as the major reason for the 2-year increase in operating costs. Fixed costs rose more than $250 from 1975 to 1977, while varied costs — gas, oil and maintenance — were down slightly.

Figures on owning and operating an automobile are contained in the 1977 edition of the AAA pamphlet, "Your Driving Costs". The 20.2-cent figure is computed on 5.80 cents a mile for varied costs and 14.40 cents a mile for fixed costs.

Data contained in the report is based on driving a 1977 intermediate-sized Chevrolet Chevelle, 8-cylinder, 305-cubic inch, Malibu Classic, 4-door sedan equipped with standard accessories, automatic transmission, power steering, power disc brakes and radio.

Motorists can figure an additional two-tenths of a cent per mile and 20 cents per day for air conditioning, according to the report.

For financing in 1977, the owner should add a daily amount to match the value of the interest over the life of the loan. If for example, the owner trades in car, then borrows $3,000 at 10.5 percent interest for 48 months, the interest payment would be $687.36, or 47 cents a day.

The recently released AAA booklet also compares operating costs for various-sized cars in both low-cost (rural) and high-cost (urban) areas.

For example, motorists driving in Michigan's less populated areas will find the costs of owning and operating an intermediate-sized car 16.8 cents per mile, or 3.4 cents per miles less than drivers in such cities as Detroit, Flint, Grand Rapids and Lansing.

"For every 10 cents per gallon increase in gasoline prices, the per-mile-cost of running a car increases by one cent, if the car delivers 10 miles per gallon, or one-half cent, if the car gets 20 miles per gallon," Ratke explained.

The report also shows that vacation costs for two people have increased 6 percent since 1975. It now costs two persons traveling by car $58 daily as compared to $54 in 1975.

Auto Club breaks down the daily travel budget as $26 a day for meals (not including alcoholic beverages and tips), $27 a day for lodging and $5 for gas and oil every 100 miles of travel, with the car averaging 15 miles per gallon.

Many lodging facilities have family plans with small charges for extra people in the room. The average is $3 per person, but may be less for children.

Auto Club advises vacationers that the daily budget can vary by 30 percent depending on location.

SEMMCOG study may solve heavy truck traffic woes

Mayors from 16 communities along the heavily industrialized lower portion of the Detroit River are looking at the results of a study conducted by the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMMCOG) to alleviate problems caused by heavy truck traffic in those communities.

The year-long study was presented to the 16 communities last week at the monthly meeting of the downriver Mutual Aid Group, a problem-solving coalition of mayors which deals with such problems as police and fire protection, public works and natural catastrophes.

The SEMMCOG study, considered the first of its kind anywhere, proposes a phased improvement program which includes:

- Better truck route signing and delineation;
- Railroad grade separations across key streets; and
- Progressive future development of truckways, subject to constant reappraisal of needs.

"Because so much of our economy depends on industry and trucking," noted Sullivan, "we are anxious to find solutions which are agreeable to everyone involved."

The communities involved in the truck study include Allen Park, Brownstown Township, Ecorse, Flat Rock, Gibraltar, Grosse Ile Township, Lincoln Park, Melvindale, River Rouge, Riverview, Rockwood, Southgate, Taylor, Trenton, Woodhaven and Wyandotte. All but Melvindale and Southgate are members of SEMCOG.

"This study is extremely important to the future of the downriver corridor," said Wayne County Commissioner William Sullivan, former mayor of Wyandotte. "We have done the planning, and now it is time to implement some solutions."

Sullivan noted that research will be conducted to determine if federal grant money is available to implement the proposals contained in the study, and to determine the feasibility of downriver communities working with railroads to construct grade separations at key crossings.

Sullivan expects the Mutual Aid Group to take action on the truck study within 90 days. After that the communities themselves would be responsible for implementing the proposed solutions.

The truck traffic problem in the downriver communities is an old one which stems from the heavy industrialization along the river front. Trucks traveling I-75 and I-94 freeways are forced to use east-west streets in residential and business districts to reach their destination industries. Some of the problems which arise from the constant influx of 18-wheeled vehicles are noise pollution, exhaust emissions and damage to pavement.

The truck study was funded largely by Federal Highway Administration funds, with 10 percent contributions from SEMCOG and local communities.

The Southeast Michigan Council of Governments is a voluntary association of governmental units in Livingston, Macomb, Monroe, Oakland, St. Clair, Washtenaw and Wayne counties. Its principal function is long-range planning for transportation, housing, recreation and open space, sewer, water and storm drainage, criminal justice and water quality.

FNS signs contract to offer counselling

Family and Neighborhood Services (FNS) of Wayne County has signed a model contractual agreement with the Michigan Department of Social Services to provide counseling services for parents who abuse or neglect their children.

According to Gerald Smith, associate director of the agency, "the incidence of abuse and neglect are on the rise nationally."

"In the past there has been little help available for these parents," he added. "Yet it is widely believed in many circles that good therapeutic counseling can be effective in treating child abuse and neglect."

The staff for the project will be located at the Inkster Boys Club Building at 26807 Michigan Avenue, Inkster, and will be available to residents of Inkster, Wayne, Westland, Garden City, Dearborn Heights and Taylor who are referred by the Department of Social Services Protective Services Unit.

Those wishing to report a suspected case of child abuse and/or neglect can fill out state form DSS 3200 or call Catreia Heslip, supervisor of Northwest Protective Services Unit, at 729-9400. Protective services workers will investigate the case and refer it to Family and Neighborhood Services for counseling, if appropriate.

Family and Neighborhood Services has a professional staff of social workers and a psychiatric consultant. Counseling is available by appointment at the FNS office, or in the client's home. Individual, family, and/or group counseling also is available.

Ford Motor Co. readies year-long anniversary event

Ford Motor Co., America's oldest automobile manufacturer, this month will begin a year-long birthday observance, to be climaxed June 16, 1978, by the 75th anniversary of the firm's founding in Detroit.

The start of the anniversary year was announced recently by Henry Ford II, chairman of the board, who said: "Ford Motor Co. begins its 75th year on June 16. It is a milestone that should not pass unnoticed if we are to learn from the past to improve the future."

"When my grandfather founded Ford Motor Co. he had a primary purpose in mind. As a farm boy he knew from first-hand experience that farming could be backbreaking work, and he knew that machinery could ease the burden. He saw the automobile as a piece of machinery. He envisioned the car, not as a luxury vehicle for the rich, but as a means for the average man to make his life — and his family's — easier and happier."

"It soon became apparent that the car would not only ease man's burden, but that it also would enable him to enjoy a fuller life. Almost from the beginning it did just that."

"With new leisure time people began to take motor trips. Our country unfolded just beyond the windshield."

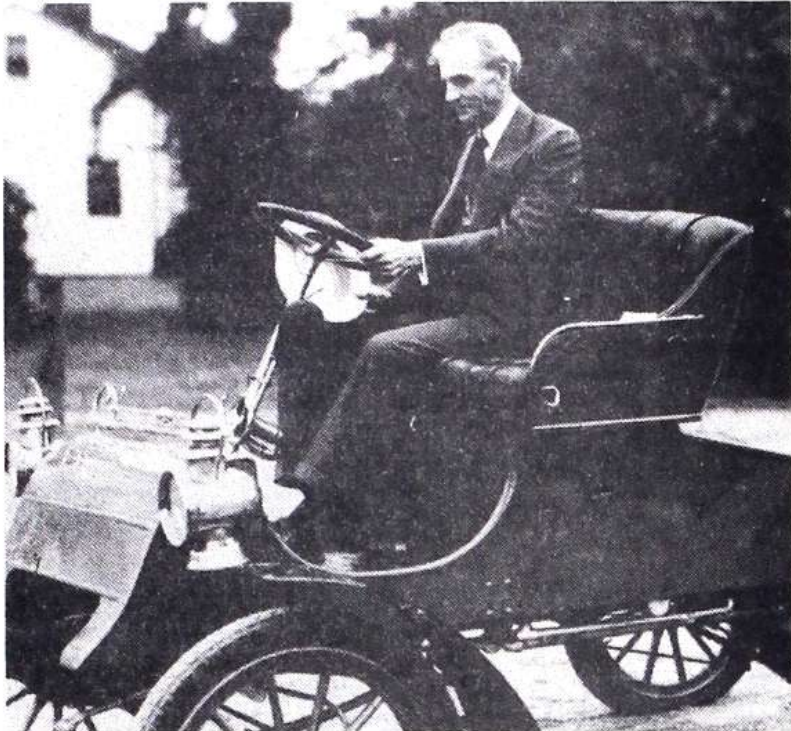

Ford Motor Co. entered the business world without fanfare on June 16, 1903, when the late Henry Ford and 11 associates filed incorporation papers at Michigan's State Capitol in Lansing.

With an abundance of faith, but only $28,000 in cash, the pioneering industrialists gave birth to what was to become one of the world's largest corporations.

The company had anxious moments in its infancy, balancing the scale of bankruptcy precariously. But one month after incorporation a ray of hope shone when the first car was sold to a Chicago dentist, named Pfennig. A worried group of stockholders, skeptically eyeing a bank balance that had dwindled to $223.65 breathed easier, and the young Ford Motor Co. had taken its first step.

During the next five years, young Henry Ford, as chief engineer and later as president, directed a development and production program which started in a converted wagon factory on Mack Avenue in Detroit and later moved to a larger building at Piquette and Beaubien streets. In the first 15 months, 1,700 cars — early Model As — chugged out of the old wagon factory.

Between 1903 and 1908, Henry Ford and his engineers used about 10 different letters of the alphabet to designate their creations, although some of the cars were experimental and never reached the public.

AUTO PIONEER

The most successful of the early production cars was the Model N, a small, light, 4-cylinder machine which went on the market at $500. A $2,500 6-cylinder luxury car, the Model K, sold poorly.

The Model K's failure, along with Ford's insistence that the company's future lay in the production of inexpensive cars for a mass market, caused increasing friction between Ford and Alexander Y. Malcomson, a Detroit coal dealer who had been instrumental in raising the original $28,000. As a result, Malcomson left the company, and Ford acquired enough of his stock to increase his holdings to 58 1/2 percent. He became president in 1906, replacing John S. Gray, a Detroit banker.

Disputes among the stockholders did not threaten the young company's future as seriously as did a man named George Selden. Selden had a patent on "road locomotives", powered by internal combustion engines. To protect his patent, he formed a powerful syndicate to license selected manufacturers and collect royalties for every "horseless carriage" built or sold in America, attempting to monopolize the industry.

Hardly had the doors been opened at the Mack Avenue factory when Selden's syndicate filed suit against the Ford company which bravely had gone into business without a Selden license.

Faced with the choice of closing the doors or fighting a battery of attorneys who already had whipped bigger companies into line, Henry Ford and his partners decided to fight.

Eight years later, in 1911, after incredibly complicated court proceedings, Ford Motor Co. won the battle which freed it and the entire auto industry from Selden's strait jacket.

Despite harassments from Selden's syndicate, the fledgling company kept improving its machines and reached the Model T in 1908. A considerable improvement over all previous models, this car was an immediate success.

Nineteen years and more than 15,000,000 Model Ts later (1927), Ford Motor Co. was a giant industrial complex that spanned the globe. Its vehicles had started an urban revolution. Its $5 day and the philosophy behind it had started a social revolution. Its moving assembly line contributed to an industrial revolution.

By 1927, time had run out on the Model T. Improved, but basically unchanged for so many years, it was losing ground to more stylish, more powerful machines being offered by Ford competitors. Starting in May, Ford plants began to close down for six months while the company re-tooled for the Model A.

It was a vastly improved car in all respects several body styles and a wide variety of colors — but eventually reached the end of the line when consumers demanded even more luxury and power. Ford's was ready with plenty of both in its next entry — the Ford V-8 — which the public saw for the first time on April 1, 1932.

Ford was the first company in history to cast a V-8 engine block in one piece and mass produce it successfully. The car and its powerful engine became the "darling" of performance-minded Americans.

In 1938, six years after the V-8 was introduced, production started on the Mercury which became Ford's entry in the growing medium-price field.

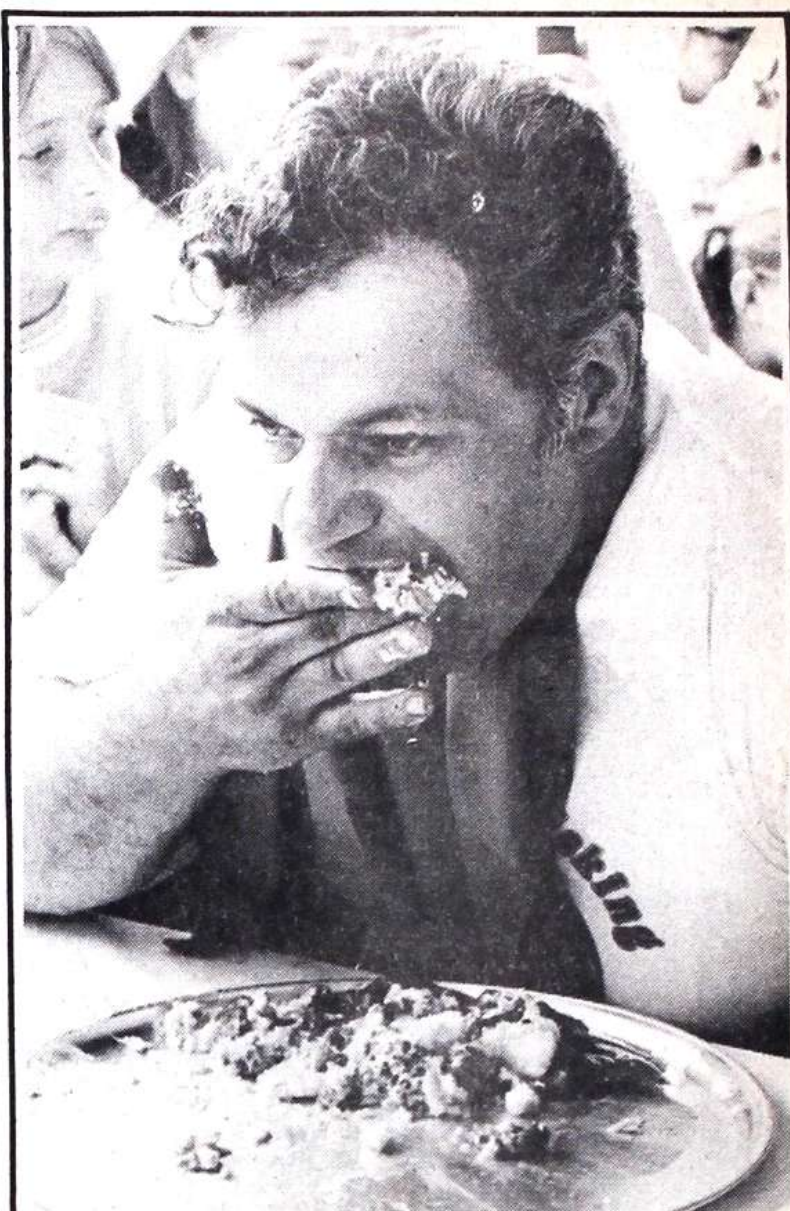

In February 1942, civilian car production came to a halt as the company threw all its resources into the U. S. war effort. Initiated by Edsel Ford, this giant wartime program produced in less than three years 8,600 4-engined B-24 "Liberator" bombers, 57,000 aircraft engines and more than 250,000 jeeps, tanks, tank destroyers and other pieces of war machinery.

Edsel Ford died in 1943 just as his program was reaching its maximum efficiency. A saddened Henry Ford resumed the presidency until the war's end when he resigned for the second time. His oldest grandson, Henry Ford II, now chairman of the board, became president on Sept. 24, 1945.

Having relinquished his company's operation to his grandson, Mr. Ford lived quietly with his wife, Clara, until he died on April 7, 1947, at the age of 83.

Henry Ford II's postwar reorganization plan rapidly restored the company's health. In the expansion program Ford added 24 manufacturing plants, 13 assembly plants, 21 parts depots, two proving grounds and 21 engineering, research and office buildings in the United States.

The company now not only produces automobiles to fit individual markets, but also light, medium and heavy trucks, farm and industrial tractors, industrial engines and construction machinery. Besides substantially increasing vehicle production facilities, the company has established itself in financing, insurance, automotive replacement parts, electronics and space technology.

Shoveling in Shoveling in the last few gulps with his hand is Jim "Champ" Richendollar, winner of the first annual Celebrity Strawberry Shortcake Eating Contest held Saturday. A packed throng watched Richendollar out-chew his six opponents. After seven minutes of gobbling the four-pound strawberry shortcakes, the spoons were taken away and the contestants were told to whoof down the fruit dessert any way they could. Jim only left four ounces of the original mountain of 4 lbs. of strawberries and shortcake that confronted him at the start of the contest. — ANP photos.

Bill aims at credits

Sen. John R. Otterbacher of Grand Rapids has introduced a bill that would give property owners income tax credits for home improvements designed to save energy.

Otterbacher said his proposal is in line with energy conservation measures being proposed at the national level.

"This past winter, which was one of the worst on record, underscores the need to create new incentives to conserve heating fuel," Otterbacher emphasized. "My bill is a positive step in that direction because it would help ease the high cost of energy for the poor and for persons on fixed incomes. Persons in these groups currently pay a disproportionate amount of their income on utility bills."

The Otterbacher proposal would authorize any home owner a tax credit equal to 25 percent of actual costs not to exceed $25 for insulation of ceilings or walls or installation of storm windows or storm doors. Exterior installation to a home such as siding qualifies an owner to receive a tax credit equal to 25 percent of actual costs up to $50.

"At a time when the major energy conservation and cost containment initiatives must be made on a federal level. We in Michigan have a responsibility to do what we can. This is a beginning," Otterbacher concluded.

Zilka-Wagner wed

Pocono Mountain trip follows May 28 ceremony

A week-long honeymoon in the Pocono Mountains of Pennsylvania followed the May 28 wedding of Jeanie Ann Wagner and Robert Paul Zilka, both of Romulus. Since returning, the newlyweds have taken up residence at 37835 Wabash, Romulus.

St. Paul United Church of Christ in Taylor was reserved for the six o'clock ceremony which united the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Murlin Wagner of 20081 Inkster Road and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Zilka of 37276 Eureka Road.

The Rev. Alvin D. Kauffman presided at the double ring rite before an altar appointed with two bouquets of white gladiolas and mums. Musical selections for the happy occasion included "We've Only Just Begun" and "If."

Escorted up the aisle by her father, the bride appeared in a gown of white satin designed with a scoop neckline and full, clear bishop sleeves cuffed at the wrist. Two rows of ruffled lace accented the toe-touching skirt with the same lace and beading used to enhance the little fitted bodice.

Small medallions of pearl-studded lace frosted the chapel length illusion veil which was secured by a crescent cap of lace. Both the dress and veil were made by the bride for her wedding day.

Completing her bridal finery was a cascade bouquet of white carnations, English ivy, white tulle and satin ribbon.

Attendants in pink satin frocks styled in the empire mode were the maid of honor, Theresa Poulton of Romulus, and the trio of bridesmaids: Shirley Blevins, Theresa Di Martino and Loretta Larkins. Their bouquets were comprised of pink carnations in varied shades, baby's breath and ivy.

Also in a little pink dress was the flowergirl, 7-year-old Kim Larkins. Her brother, Jeff Larkins, nine, served as ringbearer. They are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Larkins.

Carrying out the duties of best man was James A. Zimmerman of Taylor. Groomsmen were James DiMartino, Kevin Johnson and Wilbert Konarska.

At the reception which followed in the Carawee Hall in Flat Rock, the bride's mother greeted guests in a beige gown while the bridegroom's mother appeared in a blue ensemble. Both were presented with corsages of white carnations.

RANDALL KRZESINSKI

Randall J. Krzesinski, the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Krzesinski of 49904 W. Huron River Dr., Belleville, was in his junior year at Belleville High School when he was appointed to be a Capitol page for Congressman William Ford. He started the 12th grade at the U.S. Capitol in Washington, D. C. as an intern for Congressman Thomas Foley of the State of Washington.

Krzesinski graduated from the Page School June 6, ceremonies being held in the White House State Dining Room where President Jimmy Carter presented certificates to the 38 graduates.

The evening ceremony was held in the Caucus Room of Cannon House Office Building with the address being given by Senator Daniel Patrick Moynihan.

In his senior year, Krzesinski was president of his class, made the National Honor Society and received a scholarship from Eastern Michigan University.

Attending the graduation in Washington along with his parents were Krzesinski's aunts, Mrs. Stella Robak and Mrs. Theresa Proben; his cousin, Claudia Proben, and three Belleville High classmates, Margo Nowak, Stella Capilli and Mary Gondek.

Moose men to attend convention

The big event of the year for Moose Lodge members will be the International Convention to be held June 25-30 at Jacksonville, Fla. Belleville will send two of its members as representatives: Clifton McGuire, the newly-elected

Michigan top chicken cook wins national cook-off trip

Kay Brown of Belleville has a recipe for cooking chicken that may win $10,000.

Winner of the state cook-off held recently at the Genesee Valley Center in Flint, Mrs. Brown will represent Michigan at the 1977 National Chicken Cooking Contest, July 27 in Jackson, Miss. There Kay's recipe for Curried Chicken will compete with 50 others, one from each state and the District of Columbia, for the grand prize of $10,000.

Runner-up in the state competition was Sylvia Rae Druckman of Southfield. Sylvia prepared Glazed Chicken and Pears for the judges during the 1-day event in which there were four state finalists.

In addition to preparing her own recipe at the national cook-off, all finalists in Jackson will be royally entertained, including tea at the Governor's mansion and on closing night an awards reception and dinner, climaxed with a champagne party. The cooking will take place in the Mississippi Coliseum in Jackson.

A panel of well-known food experts will select winning dishes in the 29th annual cook-off. In addition to the first prize of $10,000, there will be another $10,000 in prizes divided among four runners-up.

The National Chicken Cooking Contest is sponsored by the National Broiler Council, the maker of Ac'cent flavor enhancer, and the maker of Mazola corn oil.

Every contestant in the national cook-off receives, in addition to the expense-paid trip, a $100 cash award, a silver trophy and a supply of sponsored products.

National contest ranges will be provided by White Westinghouse.

Kay's prize-winning recipe follows.

Curried Chicken

- 1 broiler-fryer chicken, cut in parts
- ¾ cup flour
- ¼ cup Mazola corn oil
- 3 cups plus 1 tablespoon water, divided
- 1½ cups chopped onion
- 1½ teaspoons curry powder
- 2 teaspoons Ac'cent flavor enhancer
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon black pepper
- ½ teaspoon majoram
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch.

Coat chicken with flour. Heat corn oil in fry pan over medium heat. Add chicken and brown on all sides. Stir together 3 cups of the water, onion, curry powder, flavor enhancer, salt, pepper and majoram. Pour over chicken. Simmer, covered, about 1 hour or until fork can be inserted with ease. Remove chicken and prepare gravy in pan. There should be about 2 cups pan drippings and broth. Stir remaining 1 tablespoon water and cornstarch. Add to broth, stirring constantly, and cook about 3 minutes or until thickened. Add chicken and heat. Serve chicken and gravy hot with rice and chutney. Makes: 4 servings.

If you're wondering why that photograph you sent in with your engagement or wedding story wasn't used, it was because it was not suitable for publication. Candid snapshots are not acceptable since they do not contain the sharpness and contrast needed for reproducing.

In order for a photo to be used with an engagement announcement, it should preferably be a head shot in wallet size. But if only a larger studio picture is available we can reduce it to fit one column.

We prefer not using pictures of couples for engagements although we will accept one if it was taken professionally and especially for the engagement.

Wedding photographs submitted can be either of the bride alone or the bridal couple but must be of professional quality — NO SNAPSHOTS. We will accept color pictures but ask that you please submit photos that are close-ups of the subject.

Your cooperation in choosing a good photo will result in your not being disappointed when your picture is not printed.

Kiwanians, bride-elect, grads in the news

By LEE SMITH
Suburban Living Editor

The Belleville Kiwanis Club played host June 14 to a ladies night and inter-club with fellow Kiwanians from Leamington, Ont. The two club hope to revitalize a past tradition of across-the-border get-togethers. Traveling via motor home, the Canadian contingent arrived at the Romulus Ramada Inn for a poolside cocktail party with their hosts and hostesses. Dr. Jerry Graf and Manley Baldwin program and inter-club chairmen, respectively, were in charge of the evening arrangements.

Dinner was served in the Belleville Room of the Inn where Jim Richendollar, president of the Belleville Club, extended the welcome. Each of the ladies present was given a long-stemmed pink carnation from the host club.

The visitors supplied the program for the evening, a film on the multi-million dollar greenhouse business which comprises most of Leamington's "industry." Mike Vorkapich, an agriculture teacher, showed a film on tomato and cucumber production and later had complimentary cucumbers passed out to the group.

Tentative plans were made for a golf outing and cook-out for the two clubs sometime in July.

Judy Frydrych is "showered"

Judy Frydrych, who has an August 12 altar date with David Duane, was the honored guest June 5 at a miscellaneous bridal shower. Co-hostesses were her aunts, Mary Ann Trbovic and Geraldine Stann, both of Madison Heights.

Held at the Trbovic home, the party included a social afternoon with prizes being awarded via drawings, a buffet dinner and the opening of gifts. Colorful streamers and white wedding bells added a festive touch to the rooms.

Some 40 relatives and friends from Lincoln Park, Ypsilanti, Detroit, Madison Heights and Belleville enjoyed seeing Judy unwrap the many items for her future home. Assisting with the ribbons and wrappings were her future maid of honor, Debbie Duane, and two of her three bridesmaids, Holly Kenyon and Chris Duane, all of Belleville.

Other guests from Belleville were the young couple's mothers, Helen Frydrych and Maxine Duane.

Judy's fiance, David Duane, was among those graduating from Michigan State University on June 11. He received a bachelor's degree in accounting.

The young couple have reserved the First United Methodist Church of Belleville for their summer wedding.

BHS grads in the limelight

The weekend immediately after commencement seemed to be the most popular time for parties honoring Belleville High's new crop of graduates.

Among those feted at June 12 festivities was Kim Eichold who was congratulated by some 130 guests including her grandfather, Carrol Adler of Leslie, and former neighbors, Joe and Mary Loria, who came from Gaylord for the weekend. Others were from Mt. Clemens, Allen Park, Taylor, Tecumseh, Ypsilanti, Saline and Belleville.

The open house, set from 1 to 6 p.m., centered around a buffet dinner served by Kim's parents, Larry and Bev Eichold of Lenmore Drive. Because of the unseasonal cold, the party had to be held indoors.

Kim, who has been a co-op student at Hydra-Matic Division of General Motors, has accepted their offer for a full-time job.

As they'd done for their other two graduates, Bill and Flo Hudge had a huge tent erected in the back yard of their Elwell Road home to take care of more than 70 guests who came to honor their daughter, Cindy.

The seven o'clock buffet included the honoree's grandparents, the Walter Hesses, currently of Howell; relatives and friends from Evanston, Ill., Ann Arbor, Pinckney, Dexter, Saline and Ypsilanti; Cindy's brother, Mike, who flew in from Santa Clara, Calif. for the occasion, and a host of classmates and friends from BHS.

Cindy will continue her co-op duties at Hydra-Matic until it's time to leave for classes at Michigan State University in the fall.

Keith and Margaret Bowles of Chaney Street played host at an open house

June 12 from 4 to 8 honoring their daughter, Therese, who was among the 520 students earning diplomas at Belleville High.

Some 50 guests including Therese's grandfather, Keith Bowles of Lincoln Park, enjoyed the buffet supper and socializing.

The graduate, who is planning an early 1978 wedding date with her fiance, David Carnahan, is employed as a secretary in the science department at the University of Michigan.

A cake in the class colors of light and dark blue with the inscription "Congratulations class of '77" served as the centerpiece at the buffet dinner which put Linda Jones in the spotlight on June 12.

The open house given by her parents, Ermil and Sally Jones of Clarence Street, was held from 2 to 6 with some 40 people attending. Out-of-staters included the Bob Mayos of Lima, Ohio; the Frederick Nofzigers of Toledo, Ohio and Mamie Adair with Michael and John from Enon, Ohio.

Linda's grandmothers, Mrs. Louie Mayo of Terre Haute, Ind. and Mrs. Edith Jones of the Chelsea Methodist Home, were at Bowen Field House to see her graduate on June 9. Mrs. Jones was able to spend the remainder of the week with her son and family and attend the Sunday festivities but Mrs. Mayo had to return home.

The Jones family will be setting off on different paths in just a few months with Linda taking off for art classes at Adrian College and her dad assuming his new duties as assistant superintendent of Jefferson Schools in N. Monroe County on July 1.

A small sit-down dinner for 22 guests was given the night after graduation by the Bert Smiths of Edison Lake Road for the last of their three daughters, Carol, another member of the class of '77.

Carol, who is continuing to work at Bonanza Steak House for the summer, will be among the freshmen entering Western Michigan University in September.

Driving in from Evanston, Ill. for the June 8 commencement, Luanne Schonfeld joined her parents and grandmother, Mrs. Ethel Smith, at graduation exercises. Friday night her husband, Pete, took the train in and Saturday the Smith family and Danny Scripser enjoyed dinner together at Northville Charley's.

The get-together was a triple celebration in that it marked the end of high school for Carol, another birthday for her mother and the master's degree which her brother-in-law Pete was about to receive from Northwestern University in Evanston.

The Sunday before graduation was chosen by Chuck and Phyllis Breithaupt for the steak-out honoring their son, Keith. Arriving at their Harmony Lane home for the lawn party were the James Hatfields of Brighton; Mrs. Jean Collins and Mrs. Edna Breithaupt of Dearborn; the Irvin Hortons of Rockwood and Nick Martin. Kenn Breithaupt was also on hand for his brother's party.

The evening of commencement the same group enjoyed dinner together with their hosts at Haab's in Ypsilanti.

Keith will attend Michigan State University in the fall and concentrate on engineering for the present.

A buffet dinner featuring a number of Italian favorites was the highlight of the graduation party given June 12 by William and Leenora Similo for their son, David.

Over 75 guests came from North Dakota, Allen Park, Ann Arbor, Romulus, Westland and Belleville for the three o'clock festivities including David's aunt, Miss Edith Similo of Blythedale, Pa.

The honored man's sisters, Janice Orsini of Romulus and Karen Roberts and Gloria Similo of Belleville, gave their mother a hand with the food and serving.

David, who's head chef out at Bonanza Steak House in Lakewood Shopping Center, plans to attend trade school in the future.

Invitations to Karen Crow's graduation reception on June 12 were answered by some 200 relatives, friends and classmates. The 2 to 5:30 buffet included a specially decorated cake with an inscription to the graduate.

The Robert Crows of Hannan Road, who entertained at the party, were assisted by their daughters, Marsha Harden and Vicky and Kathy Crow and their son, Bob.

Karen's grandmother, Mrs. O.E. Johnson, flew in from Decatur, Ala. to see the last of the Crow family graduate and to join others from Milan, Grosse Pointe, Romulus, Ypsilanti and Belleville for the afternoon.

He chose trip rather than party

Richard Lee Newberry Jr. was among those receiving diplomas at Romulus High School on June 16, graduating on the A and B honor roll. For two years he has been employed as a co-op student by Host International at Detroit Metro Airport.

Richard's future plans are to enter a junior college to further his interest in the data processing field.

In lieu of a graduation party, his parents, Richard and Ursula Newberry of Romulus, have treated him to a trip to Disney World in Orlando, Fla.

M. Pokerwinski receives degree

Five co-workers of the Women of the Moose, Belleville Chapter 1135, accompanied Mary Pokerwinski to Mooseheart, Ill. where she received her College of Regents degree.

While there the group toured the grounds and gave its "Sunshine Boy" his birthday gift.

Two new members were enrolled into the Chapter on June 13: Diana Craig, sponsored by Marian Minthorn, and Marietta Kerner, sponsored by Dolores Frey.

Several co-workers placed well during the Moose State Bowling Tournament held in Holly during the month of May.

Dana Egnor wins contest for history book design

MISSEGNOR

Students of Marcia Kalb's commercial art classes at Belleville High School recently were invited to participate in a cover design contest sponsored by the Van Buren History Book Committee.

Students researched the project by investigating period costuming and having Belleville's eldest resident, Darryl Raymond Sr., speak to the class and share his memories of years gone by. The history book committee also supplied several old photographs and maps for the group to use as reference material.

Chosen as winner of the contest was Dana Egnor, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Egnor of 13050 Ormond Dr., Belleville. Dana, who will be a junior at Belleville High School in the fall, will be presented with a $25 savings bond and a copy of "Water Under the Bridge" at a reception to be held in the fall at the Van Buren Township Hall. Students, whose sketches will be used inside the book, will also be presented certificates of recognition at that time.

The winning design is a pocket watch which includes within it "bubbles" containing several historical scenes: the old railroad depot, a bridge, an old house, Spencer's Drug Store (now Kirk's) and the I-94 Expressway exit sign.

When planning the drawing, Dana was especially concerned with carrying out the theme of the passage of time that is implied in the title of the book. She used old photographs which had belonged to her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Walker of Hoelt Road, who have lived in this area since 1939. Art students whose sketches will be included in the historical tome are Susan Perry, David Arquette, Joe Lake, Angela Ostrowski, Sherry Paponetti, Tim Marsh, Charles Smelt and Paul Arnett.

Also Deborah Griffith, Blair Temple, Carl Winekoff, Diana Bailey, Jim Winkelman, Ray Eggers, Lisa Weglarz, Dwight Ford, Sara Robson and Dorothy Aigus.

The reception honoring Miss Egnor and her fellow artists will be held in September after publication of the book. At that time the book will first be made available to the general public.

Copies of "Water Under the Bridge" may be ordered by calling the office of Joseph Dida at the township hall. The soft-covered edition is $11.95 and the hard cover, $17.95. Only copies which are paid for in advance can be printed.

Officers installed by VB Garden Club

The June meeting of the Van Buren Garden Club combined business with a potluck luncheon at the home of Mrs. Joseph E. Horste. Mrs. Henry Deering conducted the meeting which included installation of new officers for the 1977-78 season.

Mrs. William Graham presented the incoming slate with roses from her garden. Recipients were Mrs. Walter Molik, president; Mrs. Horste, vice-president; Mrs. Harry Randall, treasurer; Mrs. Jack Kulzer, recording secretary, and Mrs. Timothy Posthumus, corresponding secretary.

Club publicity will be handled by Mrs. Mary Prais and Mrs. Doris Roe with Mrs. Helen Wilson in charge of sunshine and good cheer.

Mrs. Molik, a delegate, gave a very interesting report on her attendance at the 46th Annual Meeting of the Federated Garden Clubs of Michigan held in Grand Rapids.

A report on the Beal Gardens of Lansing was given by Mrs. Clifford Smith who suggested it would be a beautiful and worthwhile garden club tour in season.

A donation is being made to the Episcopal Church in memory of the late Mrs. Lydia Clark, who was a club member for many years.

Aloe vera plants were given by Mrs. Thomas Russell, with information on their medicinal use, to Mrs. Posthumus for her green thumb and work in maintaining the Belleville Public Library grounds. A guest, Mrs. Ethel Hammond, won another plant in a drawing.

Slides on the gardens of Toulouse, France were shown by Mrs. Horste and others of the members of the club taken at various club outings as well as of parks she had visited by Mrs. Deering.

Baisch-Smith set August altar dale

The engagement and summer wedding plans of their daughter, Sandra Baisch, and Mark Smith are announced by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Baisch of 305 Edison Ave., Belleville.

The bride-elect, a 1977 graduate of Belleville High School, has chosen an Aug. 27 altar date.

Her fiance, a resident of 51074 Mott Rd., Canton, is the son of Mrs. Harriett Smith of Belleville and James Smith Smith of Wayne. He attended Belleville High School and currently is employed K & D Industrial Cleaners in Romulus.

St. Paul's Lutheran Church in New Boston has been reserved for the wedding.

"Can a Funeral Director Conduct Funerals of Any Faith?"

The answer is "Yes" for most experienced funeral directors. We have acquainted ourselves with most of the local religious customs and can advise you about them.

From the time we and the clergyman are called, we are in close touch with each other so as to pay strict heed to the family's wishes for any and all religious services. It is important for you to contact your own pastor, priest or rabbi EARLY so he can help you — and us. If you don't happen to be active in any church, we can suggest an appropriate clergy person.

During the time of the funeral planning and service, your religious faith can be a mighty strong support and source of comfort to you. To include meaningful portions of your faith in the funeral service can render additional comfort to those attending the funeral.

Visit on West Coast ends

By Mrs. Joseph Spring
699-4021

Mrs. Harold (Elizabeth) Leschinske of East Columbia Avenue returned home June 12 after having spent the past month with her son Tom and wife at Tucson, Ariz. She also went on to Lancaster, Calif. where she spent some time with another son, Eugene, his wife and family. While there her granddaughter, Terri, was confirmed at Good Shepherd Lutheran Church on May 29.

Mrs. Dorothy Westergard of Liberty Street and sister, Mrs. Bertha Harvey of Grand Rapids, returned home, June 13 from a trip to Portland, Ore., where they had been guests of a sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barbour, and other relatives.

Mrs. Juanita Akers of Liberty Street attended graduation exercises on June 15 at the Winston Churchill High School of Livonia where her granddaughter, Kathy Berry, daughter of Don and Mabel Berry of Westland, was one of the graduates.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kidwell of Ellen Drive entertained at a family gathering on June 10 in honor of the first birthday of their little daughter, Erin Macaulay Kidwell. Present were her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Dorothy Kellas of Margery Street, paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilber Kidwell of Romulus; an aunt, Mrs. Thomas Satterlee of Westland, and an aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Jon Edge and daughter Aimee of Superior Township. All enjoyed a special birthday cake and ice cream.

Mrs. Phyllis Stickney of Detroit, daughter of Mrs. Harold Leschinske of East Columbia Avenue, was the recipient of an honorary degree from Wayne State University. It lauded her work on the Cass Corridor on cancer research at a banquet held June 10.

On June 10, Mrs. Muriel Bearance of Liberty Street, Mrs. Marguerite Kouba of Hannan Road and Mrs. Velma Kulzer of Liberty Street were guests of Mrs. Mary McGinnis at the annual luncheon for Detroit Retired Teachers held at the War Memorial Building on East Jefferson.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Renton and family from Fort Collins, Colo. were Tuesday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Riggs and Miss Florence Renton of Savage Road. The Rentons are spending their vacation at the home of Don's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Irvine Renton of Wayne.

After having undergone surgery at Art Center Osteopathic Hospital in Detroit, Duane King is now convalescing at his home on Belleville Road.

Mrs. Robert Le Moyne and sons, Robert and Craig, of Livonia and the former's mother, Mrs. Marjorie Potter of Liberty Street were Wednesday guests of the latter's niece, Mrs. Wesley Stewart at Silver Lake.

Three-and-one-half-year-old twin boys, Aaron and Brian Oldenburg of Westland, were weekend guests of their maternal grandmother, Mrs. Dorothy Westergard of Liberty Street.

Mrs. Arthur Cullin of Sumpter Road, Mrs. James Renton of Martinsville Road, and Mrs. Cora Bradshaw of Bedell Street attended a luncheon held at the Washtenaw Country Club on June 11. It was a reunion of the Ypsilanti Central High School classes of 1920 and before.

Rebecca King, daughter of the Duane Kings of Belleville Road, left last Sunday for a week of camping at Camp Linden with Girl Scout Troop No. 587.

Mrs. Dorothy Kellas of Margery Street was a guest at a luncheon for the Retired Senior Volunteers of Washtenaw County held at Weber's Inn in Ann Arbor on June 15. She was the recipient of a yearly award for services rendered at Veterans' Administration Hospital in Ann Arbor.

Sunday guests of Mrs. Marjorie Potter of Liberty Street were her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Martin of Flushing, and the latter's daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Stewart of Pontiac.

On June 12 Mr. and Mrs. Leon Boldt of Roland Street attended the 50th anniversary dinner of the class of 1927 from Milan High School at The Flaming Pit in Ann Arbor. Mrs. Boldt was one of the 30 who was present from the class who attended with their husbands and wives.

Thirty-three members and guests of the Delbert and May Romine family attended the annual reunion held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Porte of Port Huron on June 11. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Deering of West Columbia Avenue were guests, having been included with the family each year since the gathering was started three years ago. A delicious pot luck dinner was enjoyed by all present.

Poke-a-punch bowl for outdoor dining

Summertime is national thirst time, and active children seem to be the most thirsty of all creatures. Happy and appealing solutions to this problem can be found in packages of soft drink mix. An especially delightful way of serving a special party punch is to give the children a "well" of their own beverage — Cherry Jubilee.

The "well" is a hollowed-out watermelon filled with a refreshing beverage made with cherry and raspberry sugar-sweetened soft drink mix. It's nice to ladle the punch from the melon bowl, but it's more fun to see the punch pour from a "spout" in the side of a melon. To do that, simply poke a hole in the melon with a skewer and, between servings, plug the hole with a skewer or small wooden dowel.

There is, of course, nothing that says Cherry Jubilee punch is reserved for children only. The flavor has plenty of adult appeal, too. In fact, you can make a delicious variety of punches from Kool-Aid sugar-sweetened soft drink mix. Try the Tutti-Frutti Punch — it appeals to all ages as well.

Cherry Jubilee

1 cup cherry sugar-sweetened soft drink mix
1 cup raspberry sugar-sweetened soft drink mix
4 quarts water with ice cubes
Dissolve soft drink mixes in water and ice. Serve in punch bowl or hollowed out watermelon. Makes 4 quarts or 16 servings.

Tutti-Frutti Punch

1 cup sugar-sweetened soft drink mix, any flavor
2 cups unsweetened pineapple juice, apple juice or orange juice
2 quarts water with ice cubes
Combine all ingredients, stirring until soft drink mix is dissolved. Serve in punch cups. Makes about 2-1/2 quarts, 5 cups or 20 servings.

Note: Sugar-sweetened soft drink mixes should be prepared in plastic or glass container.

Scholarship winner honored by BPW Club

The Belleville Business and Professional Women's Club (BPW) held its final meeting of the year at Faith United Methodist Church of Detroit. Two new members, The Rev. Susan De Foe and Faye Sotomayor, were in charge of the June meeting and used as their theme a program which included the film, "Critical Decisions about Crime", furnished by National Bank of Detroit.

Belleville BPW scholarship winner, Karen Dickerson, and her mother were guests of honor. Karen, who has been accepted at Graceland College in Iowa, plans to major in psychology. She attended Van Buren Public Schools all her life, was in the Concert Choir and in the cast of the school musical, West Side Story, and worked as a camp counselor last year.

The BPW covers much ground and supports many projects during its club year. Once again the group will be participating in the Belleville Sidewalk Sale Days, will attend legislative seminars, hold rummage sales, award a scholarship and for the second year will care for the underprivileged children at Christmas time.

The club is proud to claim Dorothy Schroeder of the Dr. R. Schroeder Real Estate, who is the newly-elected president of the Belleville Area Chamber of Commerce.

David Kapelanski earns MD degree

David Peter Kapelanski, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kapelanski of Belleville, earned his medical doctor degree from the Pritzker School of Medicine, University of Chicago, on June 10.

DR. KAPELANSKI

David graduated from Marmion Military Academy in Aurora, Ill. and later received a bachelor of science degree in microbiology at the University of Michigan.

He received his diploma from John T. Wilson, president of the University during commencement exercises held at the Rockefeller Memorial Chapel on the CU campus.

The class and parents were honored at a dinner at the Hyatt Regency in Chicago where the medical students took the Oath of Hippocrates.

Dr. Kapelanski will start his residency July 1 at the New York University Medical Center in connection with Bellevue and Veternes Hospitals. He will enter into the department of surgery, specializing in the program of cardiothoracic and vascular surgery service.

CB World

HELP is just a break away

Recently, I have been approached by several people wanting to know what the new organization HELP (Highway Emergency Life Patrol) is all about. Since this group is fairly new, there probably are a lot of people that don't know much about it. I interviewed Craig Woods (Tiger Shark) general chairman and founder of the organization. Here is how the interview went.

Welcome to CB World, Mr. Woods. How did HELP come about?

For several months I monitored CB radio along with my friend Paul Edmondson, helping CBers whenever possible. After a while of listening to the mess that we heard, we decided to do something useful with the radio. We wanted to set up a network of CBers wanting to help motorists on the roads because of the numerous amount of emergency calls we had taken. It all began in November 1976 and it grew much faster than we had ever thought it would.

What exactly is the purpose of this group?

Establishing a useful purpose for using the CB radio, which it was intended for in the first place, is our main goal.

Are there any restrictions put on the members? What I mean is, if your going to monitor a channel with the intent of helping people, you have to take on a pretty serious attitude. Don't you feel this takes the fun out of using CB?

The only restrictions are that our members abide by the FCC rules and regulations and that they identify themselves as a HELP base or mobile. As far as taking the fun out of CB, I would say no. We don't tell our members that they can't do anything else, but monitor the channels for emergencies only. They can talk just like they always did, but we advise our members to use channel courtesy.

Does your group actually patrol the highways? Again what I mean is, do you aid motorists by going out to them and rendering assistance?

No, we do not recommend patrolling the highways. If anyone of our members stops to render assistance it is at their own risk. We are the eyes and the ears of the roads. We leave the actual administering of help to the proper agencies who are trained in their fields.

How do you know when there are HELP bases on the air? Are you assigned operating times?

We are not assigned operating times, but usually there will be a base on the air because of the variety of hours that our members work. While some of the bases are shut down for the evening, others are just beginning their operations. There seems to be a constant flow or turnover.

How about your membership fees?

Our fee is $2 per year per household. In September of this year the membership fee will be raised, but the amount has yet to be voted on by the Board of Directors.

How do you feel an organization of this size can function with only a $2 membership fee? Don't you think that's kind of low?

So far we have been fortunate to have received numerous donations plus aid and assistance from people and other organizations. It's hard to run an organization of this size on such a low fee. That is why we will be raising the fee in September.

Are you in any way affiliated with MEP (Michigan Emergency Patrol)?

No. We are completely separate from MEP - REACT or any other organization.

How involved does a person have to get to be considered an active member?

As long as the person is affiliated with our group, acquainting themselves with our procedures and monitoring the channel of their choice with the intent of helping people they are an active member.

With a group this large and spread out as far as it is how do you find out if one of your members steps out of line, and what happens if they do?

We are self-policing. If anyone of our members is heard getting out of line they will be reported to our Board of Directors and they then will be monitored. After the report has been verified and documented they will then be dismissed from the organization.

I have had experiences with other groups such as yours. It seems they always turn into a social club. What about this one?

As far as social clubs go there is nothing wrong with them, but we do not promote this kind of activity among our members. Our sole purpose is to help people, not socialize with them. We do not encourage dances or coffee breaks. If your chapters wish to take up a fund-raising activity to help build their treasury we will put it up in front to the Board of Directors for a vote and, if we feel it is worthwhile, we will give them the go ahead.

Tiger Shark, would you like to take some time here to mention some of the bases operating under the HELP name?

Yes, I wish I could name them all but I understand that would be impossible, but:

—In Romulus, Sitting Duck, Sugar Daddy, Blue Bear, Winemaker, Starfish, Morningstar, Jimbo and Rack-O.

—In Belleville, Minnie Mouse, Little Lady, Lady Plumber, Ashcan and Bent Wrench.

—In Wayne, Circle K.

—In Westland, Sunkist and Hungry Jack.

—In Canton, Moondoggie and Michigan Roaver.

—In Redford, Night Train, Mama Bronson, Tailpipe and 007.

Space does not permit the mention of everyone operating a HELP base. Anyone who was not mentioned please do not feel offended. We know you are all doing a fine job.

COMMENT: Group of this nature are an asset to the communities they are located in. They assist motorists in many beneficial ways. Whether it be giving some local information or reporting a life and death situation those bases and mobiles are out there doing their jobs. The people who volunteer their time aren't paid for what they are doing, at least not in money, but the reward of knowing that they did something of value for someone who needed it is payment enough.

Being a member of HELP myself I know the rewards and the headaches I have gotten. Believe me, the good out numbers the bad.

Anyone wishing any information on the HELP organization can write to HELP, P.O. Box 452, Romulus 48174.

Remember if you have any information you want printed or any comments to make write to me at Associated Newspapers Inc., 35540 Michigan Avenue, Wayne 48184 or call 942-0299.

Let's hear from you!!

Well, I think we have shot our five minutes for this week. This is your Nightbird going 10-10 till next week and remember, we are definitely listening.

Patriotic musical to be presented by Bethany Choir

"I love America," a heart warming patriotic musical, will be presented by the Bethany Baptist Choir on July 4 at 4 p.m. in Belleville's Victory Park. The fully-orchestrated production will be directed by Doyle Wide and narrated by John Hale.

A color guard comprised of men from the Belleville Area VFW will also participate in the afternoon program.

John W. Peterson and Don Wyrzten, who combined their talents in composing the production, state that "I Love America" is in three sections.

The first section, "Patriotism for America," relates our love for this land and recounts some of its history. The second section, "Praise for America," is a musical tribute to our country and its flag. The final and third section, "Prayer for America," presents a plea for the future of our country, that the United States of America will turn back to its spiritual foundations and to the living God of the universe.

It is hoped the public will come and share in this outward display of much needed patriotism!

Silver bells peal for A. Hoffmans

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Hoffman Jr. of 15970 Inkster Rd., Romulus, were the honored guests June 11 at a silver wedding anniversary party held at the First Congregational Church in Gibraltar.

Party hostesses were the sisters of the "bridegroom", Mrs. Kitty Ruby of Rockwood and Mrs. Mary Liverence of Trenton.

Members of the wedding party attending included Mrs. Kay Furman of Highland; Mrs. Pauline Yost of St. Joseph; Mrs. Kay Hull of Trenton; Louis Hoffman of Romulus and Kenneth Ruby of Rockwood. Also attending were the honored couple's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Pozsonyi of Marion and Anthony Hoffman Sr.

A 3-tiered wedding cake and floral money tree were the focal points at the buffet table where a complete smorgasbord was served including homemade sausage made by the senior Mr. Hoffman.

Dancing, reminiscing and looking through wedding pictures rounded out the evening for the 75 guests.

Send us your bridal information

Want to share that "special day" with those who are unable to be present in person for your wedding ceremony? We'll write the details of your wedding in story form for you — and at no charge — if you'll simply follow a few guidelines.

The Belleville Enterprise and The Romulus Roman offer bridal questionnaires for you to fill out as well as engagement forms for announcing the "start of it all." These forms include all the pertinent questions involved with your marriage or betrothal.

Forms may be picked up at our office, 116 Fourth St., Belleville (we're in the old Township Hall, side entrance) anytime during the week between the hours of 9 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

We will also mail forms if a telephone request is made. Call Lee Smith, Suburban Living Editor, at 697-9191.

Crafts highlight visit to Opryland

Associated Newspapers Nashville tour participants will be on hand for the opening of Opryland's first annual Country Music and Crafts Festival.

Crafts, clogging and music will be featured at the event. Mountain artisans and craftsmen will be making and displaying barnwood paintings, handmade quilts, pottery, stained glass, candle carvings, leather, toys and other items. In addition to the down-home arts and crafts, the festival will include special country music shows in the "Theatre-By-The-Lake" and along the midway. Jim Ed Brown is scheduled to appear at the event and two of Roy Acuff's Smoky Mountain Boys will be playing sidewalk concerts.

The visit to Opryland—a 217-acre amusement park—is planned for the second day of The Associated Newspapers 3-day trip to the Music City.

Tourists will leave Detroit Metropolitan Airport at 7:30 a.m. Aug. 27 for Nashville and tour the city in the afternoon. A visit to the Grand Ole Opry is scheduled on Saturday night and on Sunday the group will spend the day at Opryland. A tour of Nashville will highlight the day on Monday and tourists will depart for a flight back to Metro Airport at 3:40 p.m.

Total cost of the trip is $245. The price includes tips, baggage handling, transportation, admissions and all meals, except lunch on Sunday.

Interested persons should contact Gene Wertz at PA 9-4000 during regular business hours.

Claytons surprised on 40th anniversary

On Sunday, June 12, neighbors and close friends of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Clayton of Bedell Street gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Welt of Willis Road for a surprise party honoring the Claytons on their 40th wedding anniversary.

Among those present were their son-in-law and daughter Rebecca and Hugh Munce with their two sons, Michael and Bradly from Brighton; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Clayton and daughter, Linda, of Bedell Street and Mr. and Mrs. Harwin Clayton, Dian and Ted of Endicott Street.

The honored couple was presented with a red rose corsage and boutonniere and a money tree from their friends.

A buffet lunch was served during the afternoon.

Lorentson awarded MD degree at U-M

J. Christopher Lorentson of 1025 Island Dr., Ann Arbor, formerly of Belleville, received his medical doctor degree June 3 from the University of Michigan Medical School.

A total of 227 new physicians were awarded diplomas during ceremonies at which polio vaccine developer Jonas Salk, MD, addressed the class. One of the largest and oldest medical schools in the nation, the U-M has now graduated 13,247 physicians since its founding in 1850.

The new graduate, the son of Dr. and Mrs. L. L. Belleville, is an alumnus of Belleville Harmony Lane High School.

MYTHS about age

By MAUREEN BEATTY

"Sex is no longer important."

For some this might be true. To a small percentage, sex never was considered top priority. Many years ago, a child had very little knowledge of the sexual side of marriage. Mom and Dad seldom showed signs of affection in front of the youngsters. Any mention of sex came in hushed tones. The "little pictures with big ears", were not supposed to hear such talk. Like the fact Aunt Mabel was pregnant. Aunt Mabel was kept under wraps until the baby was born, at which time it was announced that a little package had arrived. If anyone wondered where the package had arrived from, they knew better than to ask.

If there was any sex education at all, it probably consisted of "that's only for making babies", or "you'll find out what you need to know when you get married." Grandma probably issued this priceless gem when her daughter got married. "Always cook a good meal, keep a clean house, and give into him now and then in the bedroom." The cooking and cleaning became a daily chore. Giving in in the bedroom depended on how resourceful she was, and how many headaches she could muster up. God forgive the woman who found herself enjoying "that other chore". She probably thought she was possessed by the devil, a matter for confession on Saturday night.

Happily, times have changed. Many seniors I talk with are enjoying a fulfilling sex life with their partners and admitting it. After all, practice makes perfect.

"She is grouchy because she's 80."

Age might find us tiring more easily, leaving us a little more susceptible to short temperedness, but a person doesn't develop a new personality on some magical birthday. I didn't get testy with a sales clerk recently because I'm in my 40's, but because I was tired, the merchandise was marked wrong, and the sales girl first got snippy with me. A loving, considerate child grows into a loving, considerate senior, except under special circumstances. If a senior seems annoyed, ask why. There is most likely a reason for it.

Their ideas are old-fashioned."

Anyone who has lived long enough to become a senior citizen, has amassed a great deal of knowledge through the years. If a senior's suggestion is new, he could be drawing on a wealth of information acquired through experience. If it is an old tried and true theory, give thought to the fact that, just possibly, the idea might still be applicable today.

Many seniors are very modern in their thinking, hear them out.

'The good old summertime' comes to life in Dearborn

Around the turn of the century, a popular song writer coined the phrase "in the good old summertime". This season, the Old Time Summer Festival at Greenfield Village in Dearborn recalls the pastimes that made those words so true in years gone by.

Now through Sept. 5, the village takes on a special atmosphere. Horses clip-clop down quiet lanes, their hoofbeats keeping rhythm with the smooth putter of the Model Ts they pass. On the lagoon, the steamboat "Suwanee" whistles in counterpoint to the wail of a century-old steam locomotive circling the village periphery. Meanwhile, along the streets, in several locations, the Greenfield Village Players add an extra dimension to the fun by recreating the entertainments of yesteryear.

From the Town Hall on the Village Green come the sounds of ragtime piano and laughter. Here, the Players stage "Town Hall Variety". Alternating 30-minute shows feature songs, dances and comic sketches from two periods in American life — 1900-1919 and the '20s and '30s.

At a nearby corner, the years roll back to 1770. On a bunting-draped platform Benjamin Franklin tugs at his lapels and talks of revolution with a colonial lady. Around the corner, the Players present a courtroom comedy skit from the 1880s. Titled "The Trial", the presentation tells the story of a young lady who is suing a prospective employer for refusing her a job on the grounds that women can't handle new-fangled machines like typewriters. The spectators act as jury and the skit's ending depends on their verdict.

Just down the street near the Luther Burbank Birthplace, a cigar-smoking gentleman in a rumpled white suit leans back in his chair and spins yarns of Mississippi River life drawn from the writings of Mark Twain. Meanwhile, at the Stephen Foster birthplace, the words and music of that famous American songwriter are brought to life again.

Throughout the day, strolling minstrels roam the village streets to the strains of old-time ballads and authentic American folk tunes. From time to time, they gather a crowd on the Village Green at the rear of a gaily-painted wagon for a medicine show. Here, "doc", with the help of an enterprising crew of charlatans, extolls the virtues of his amazing cure-all Wizard Oil for all who'll listen.

Activity abounds all over Greenfield Village. In Suwanee Park, on the gazebo near the lagoon, minstrels perform "Songs from Spoon River". An authentic 1913 merry-go-round whirls to the music of a band organ and in the spired arcade building, game machines and tests of skill once used in amusement parks along the eastern seaboard are fully restored and operating. Here, too, a century-old ice cream parlor originally located in Massachusetts now serves old-fashioned phosphates and ice cream treats to village visitors.

Across the water, on Suwanee Island, a puppet stage has been set up for a Punch and Judy show. Visitors can reach the island by raft.

In the Village Crafts Center, near the green, a dozen craftsmen practice the skills of long ago. Visitors may watch cloth woven, bread baked and brooms made in the traditions of our ancestors.

"Music for Everyone: 100 Years of the Phonograph," a special exhibit on the evolution of the phonograph, is presented in the village in the library of the Menlo Park Compound. It was in this historic group of research buildings, which were moved to Greenfield Village from New Jersey, that Thomas Edison invented the phonograph.

Inside adjacent Henry Ford Museum, two special exhibits highlight summer activities. Continuing through Labor Day, "Charles A. Lindbergh, 1902-1974" commemorates the 50th anniversary of the aviator's historic transatlantic flight. Included in the exhibit are personal letters and photographs, the motorcycle Lindy used while in college, his travel trailer and Franklin Airman Sedan and an exact duplicate of his plane, "The Spirit of St. Louis".

On July 2, the Museum's Folk Art Gallery becomes the appropriate setting for a major exhibition of folk art. A general selection of items from the museum's extensive folk art collection, including paintings, pottery, tin utensils, toys, wood carvings, weather vanes and carved figures from maritime life, will be on display.

Greenfield Village is open 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily during the summer. Admission to the village is $3.50 for adults and $1.50 for children 6 through 12 years. Museum hours are 8:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily. Admission to the Museum is $3 for adults and $1.25 for children 6 through 12 years. Children under 6 are admitted free.

Haney, whose 1975 squad captured the Class A state title, didn't reapply for the position, a formality most coaches must go through to retain their positions.

They didn't get away

Sporting a cache of fish which earned him first place prize money at the recent Belleville Bass Tournament, Wayne's Darrel Brinkley is eyeing a professional career in bass fishing. And he's well on his way, after cleaning up more than $6,500 in prize money at tournaments held across the state.

He's hooked on bass

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

Some of his colleagues have accused Darrel Brinkley of being able to talk to bass, that elusive fish which inhabits most of our waters.

How else can one explain Brinkley's success in fishing tournaments where he has turned in his catches for trophies and money, almost all of the time.

The adverb "almost" had to be inserted in the above sentence because for the first time since he has been competing in such tournaments, Brinkley last week failed to win any prize money.

"I lost a fish that I definitely felt would have won the tournament at Crooked Lake," Brinkley explained. "And, that was the first time I have ever let a fish get away, and it was also the first I never received any prize money."

If you feel that Brinkley is handing us a line don't.

He's won more than $6,500 in cash and prizes over a span of two years, competing in bass tournaments, and last year he nabbed a largemouth bass weighing 7 pounds, 4 ounces from Orchard Lake in Oakland County.

That latter feat earned for Brinkley a "Master Angler Award", presented by the state's Department of Natural Resources Fisheries Division.

The 29-year-old Brinkley has a score of other citations to back up his boast that he is among the best anglers in this water wonderland of ours.

If fact, the proprietor of "Bernies Marine Sales & Services", of Westland feels Darryl is so good that he had sponsored him, offering a boat and other considerations to provide the Wayneite with an opportunity to prove his skills.

A 1968 graduate of Wayne High, Brinkley is employed in Wixom as a heavy equipment operator. During his tour of service with the army in Thailand, Darrell met his future wife, "Rum," a Thai. The Thai are noted for their fishing skills.

"She is very considerate and patient with me," said Brinkley. "She gives me support and provides me with opportunities to get out during the weekends to compete in these tournaments. Some wives wouldn't be so understanding."

One of those tournaments was at Belleville where Brinkley recently won the Bass Tournament, placing first with a total of 13½ pounds. He cashed in his cache of five fish for $50 and a trophy.

Last year Darrel competed in the Kensington Park Tournament and returned home with $300 after showing off bass that weighed in at 14½ pounds.

Does Brinkley have a wait to communicate with bass?

"If you mean do I talk to them, no," he quipped. "I think my success is in the equipment I use — a plastic lure and plastic worms."

He says he drops the bait straight down after locating a school of fish.

"I feel the vertical ginging — the up-and-down motion I use is the ultimate of bass fishing," he said.

He says his theory of catching fish is simple: "Use whatever it takes, whatever is successful for you, and there is a wide spectrum to use."

A member of the Bass Anglers Sportsman Society, the Wayne County Bass Anglers, and Force 10 Bass Team, Brinkley is eyeing a pro career in fishing... "if the good Lord lets me."

"As the result of my first year of tournament competition, I picked up awards that exceeded $1,000," said Brinkley. "There are some tournaments down south where an angler can win up to $25,000."

Wayne wrestling coach steps down

Haney: 'I don't feel that I could do it any longer...'

Haney will remain at the high school as a teacher, however. He teaches business and accounting.

"I feel that I have had enough — I didn't feel that I could do it any longer," Haney responded to the question why he was bowing out as head coach. He also refused to elaborate.

A native of Canonsburg, Penn., Haney was a two-time Pennsylvania state champ in high school and also captured a Big 10 Conference wrestling title as a member of the University of Michigan team. His weight fluctuated between 147 and 167 during his competitive years as a prep and collegiate grappler.

Haney pointed out that his successor "has seven or eight outstanding wrestlers returning to the squad."

"I feel Wayne High's winning tradition on the mats will continue," Haney said. "Whoever takes my place will have an excellent core of outstanding wrestlers to work with."

Haney was named the 1975 "Coach of the Year" in Michigan, an honor bestowed upon him by coaches throughout the state. His teams have dominated the Great Lakes 8 Conference championships, winning four consecutive conference titles outright and sharing last year's with Monroe.

Wayne has won several district and regional championships during Haney's eight years tenure as head coach.

George Bell, principal at Wayne

High, said the school is looking for a head coach and "will attempt to fill the position as soon as possible."

"Our wrestling program has been a good one because of Don Haney," Bell said. "And I will try my best to find someone to carry on that tradition."

Studio stuns Bova

Studio Lounge, a perennial Westland Parks and Recreation women's softball title contender, exploded for six runs in the first inning en route to a rare 9-0 shutout over previously undefeated VFW Bova Post.

The victory stretched Studio's string to six on the current campaign.

Sharon Terflinger was VFW's nemesis as she twirled a seven-hitter, three of those going to Rocky Brown who doubled and singled.

VFW, now 4-1, had its problems in the early stages as Studio added three more runs in the second before losing pitcher Shirley Choumick checked the winner's bats the rest of the way.

Marie Gozowsky and Maureen McIntosh collected five runs batted in between them. Each had two singles. Teammates Heather Drake and Lynn Anderson split four hits, two going for the distance.

Johnny's Shell, another power in the league, unleashed a 9-hit assault upon Crestwood Dodge and losing pitcher Jo Ann Hickman to coast to a 30-2 victory and their fifth win against no losses.

Liz Owerzszak proved to be the thorn in Hickman's side as she latched on to four singles and a double which counted for nine RBIs. Pat Cross also accounted for four hits, two of those doubles and five runs batted in.

Janine Croskey, who amassed three singles and a double, including four runs batted in and Donna Richards, with three hits and three RBIs were other standouts for the winners.

Croskey, the winning pitcher, was touched for nine hits, two each by Mary Ann Blanchard and Colleen Dittmar.

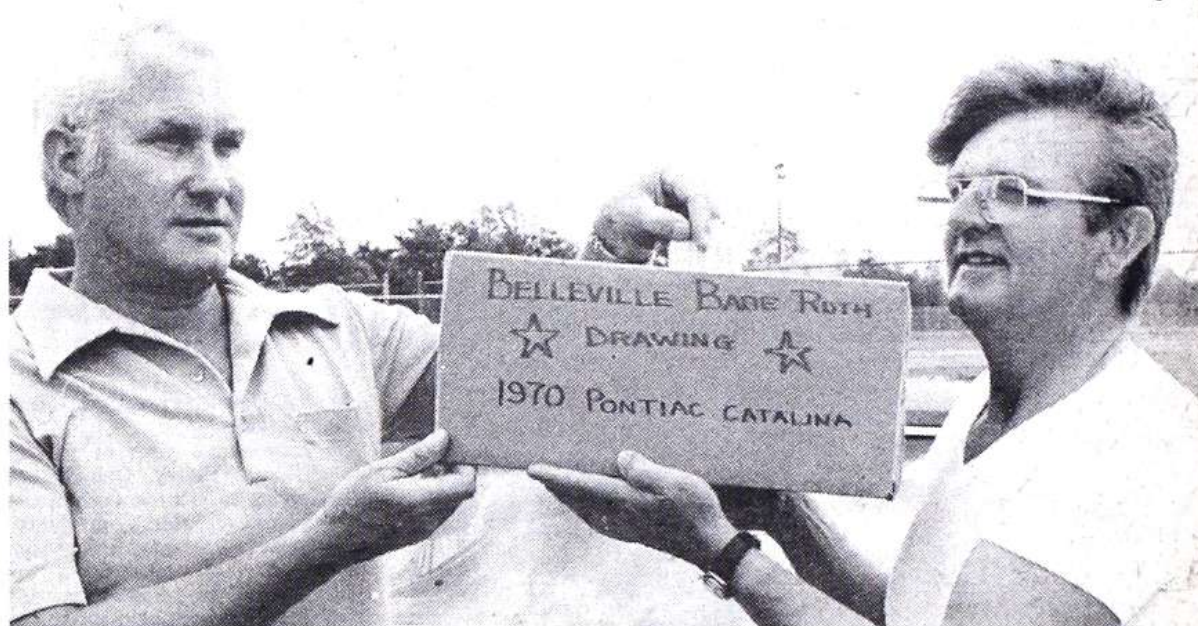

A slugging duel between Lynn's scored 13 runs in the second inning but Douglas refused to quit and title the scoreboard six times in the third and added its final two runs in the fifth.

Losing pitcher Donna Opaleski gave up 21 hits, three to Trudy Dabero who drilled a homer and a couple of singles, good for three RBIs. Sue Chupp and Dawn Lalonge missed hitting for the cycle as they split six hits between them.

Lori Centel collected three hits off of winner Jan Anzalone and Linda Otremba belted a homer, double and single for three of Douglas's three runs.

In other action, Power Packs turned back Heads Together 17-7 as Kris Pascal accounted for five RBIs thanks to four hits, two of those

Helping Belleville's Babe Ruthers

Money is tight these days, but a lot of people contributed to help Belleville Babe Ruthers this summer. One of the contributions was a 1970 Pontiac Catalina, donated by Mark Chevrolet of Wayne. Here, Harlen Meister (at left), vice president of the Babe Ruth organization, and Ken Jennings are looking for a winner to award the vehicle. And the winner is Jerry Kukola, who wasn't present at the ceremonies Saturday but will soon have the Pontiac parked in his driveway.

Westland Sports, Studio share Major D Division lead

With Studio Lounge knocking off previously undefeated Shoppe Around and Westland Sports burying A&M Radio-TV 37-1, the Westland Major Division softball picture has two prominent figures. Westland Sports and Studio Lounge share first place after five consecutive victories.

The Sportsmen didn't have any problems with M&M as they ignited for a 19 runs in the second inning and cleaned up with 41 hits.

M&M should have called its quits after that hectic second, but they also came in the third and gave up six more runs and 11 in the fifth.

Ray Fox, the losing pitcher, collected two of his team's six hits, however, he was tagged for two homers by Chris Murfey who had five hits and nine runs batted in.

Perry Pappas and Dick Saylor also checked in with five hits and each counted five RBIs for the day. Teammate Tony Pilarski drilled four singles, accounting for six RBIs.

Studio exploded for nine runs in the bottom of the sixth to erase a 6-2 deficit then held on as Shoppe Around rallied for three runs in the seventh — but it wasn't enough.

"Bear" Jones was the winner, surviving a 11-hit Shoppe Around assault. Guy Burke got the only homer for the losers and he also laced a double to finish with two RBIs. Teammates Tom Piscopink and Al Dorsey split four hits, two singles and doubles between them.

T.C. Wilmot continued to prove he's one of the finest sluggers in the league as he connected for three hits, one going for the distance. Wilmot also had three RBIs for the winners. Chap Reynolds, Frank Burton and Jim Coleman each checked in with two hits.

There were at least 400 fans on hand to watch the duel which ended in a defeat for pitcher Charley Taylor. Taylor gave up 16 hits in his first loss of the campaign.

Canfield wins Legion opener

Jim Canfield, one of the key links to Wayne Memorial's successful baseball season, drilled a run-scoring double to pave the way for Garden City 4-2 extra inning American Legion victory over Wyandotte last week.

It was the opening game for the two 16th District rivals.

Deadlocked at 2-2 all at the end of the regulation seven inning game, Garden City scored twice in the top of the 10th to win the opener.

In that inning, John Saboun led off with a single, then Jerry Hool singled, bringing Canfield to the plate.

Canfield lined on to left center, scoring the go-ahead run and Hool scored when Bob Zielinski singled up the middle, but Canfield was tossed out at the plate.

Canfield went the distance on the mound, striking out 10 and walking one. The Wayne junior gave up five hits, and was in trouble only in the third when Wyandotte managed to score its two runs to take a brief 2-1 lead.

Garden City held a 1-0 edge after the first inning when Wally Kroll tripled and scored on a wild pitch then, after Wyandotte tied it up in the third, Kroll blasted a solo homer in the fourth to make it a 2-all ball game.

Wayne wrestler will tour Iraq... If he can raise another $1,000

Joe Glass, who has won numerous AAU state wrestling titles and a member of the Michigan Team which will compete in Iraq in August, needs approximately $500 more to make the trip to the middle eastern country.

The 15-year-old Wayneite was named to the touring Michigan team after capturing top honors earlier this year at the qualifying tournament. He will compete as a 147 pounder, considered the heavyweight class for the teen-age wrestlers.

"People have just been wonderful about donating money so that Joe can make the trip," said Mrs. Ruth Hughes who is coordinating the fund drive. "We need about $1,500 and we have received through donations about $500."

The young wrestler must have the total $1,500 before the deadline, July 12.

Glass, named as Franklin Junior High's Most Valuable Athlete this year, will be entering Wayne Memorial High School in the fall.

A three-time state and nation AAU champion and also a three-time state and National Federation champ, Glass has compiled a phenomenal 175-9 won-lost record over a span of three years.

Two years ago he placed fifth at the World Junior Wrestling Championships held in Mexico.

If Glass can raise the necessary $1,000 for the trip to Iraq, he will leave July 15 for two weeks in Tennessee for training then, on Aug. 1 travel with the Michigan Team to Baghdad, the capital of Iraq.

The tour is part of the Michigan-Iraq Cultural Exchange program.

"I'm really looking forward to making the trip," said Glass who is a member of the Ann Arbor-Ypsilanti Warriors, an age group wrestling club.

Joe has two other brothers, Bob, 17, a junior at Wayne High, and Rick, 13, who are both outstanding wrestlers. Joe has been coached by Mark Johnson, University of Michigan mat captain, Fred Sievert, Franklin Junior High coach, and Tom Ninick.

Mrs. Hughes, Community Service Chairman for the American Legion Auxiliary Post 111, said that there have been many persons who have donated to the fund.

She said that Jean Thompson, owner of the Crowned Glory Beauty Salon, was among the top donors. She will be doing hair-styling specifically to help raise money for the trip.

A block sale was held last weekend to help with the project, she added.

Those who wish to contribute may do so by telephoning Mrs. Hughes at 326-4127 or the Glasses at 722-3873.

Lining up his shot

Rounding out the threesome here are Dale Weston, (center) and Keith Millar. The tournament ended with Ken McKee carding a two-over-par 74 to win top honors. Some 50 golfers took part in the tournament.

Henry is selected as Wayne new head basketball coach

One really doesn't know whether to offer Chuck Henry congratulations or condolences.

Henry will move up from assistant to head coach of Wayne Memorial's basketball team this year.

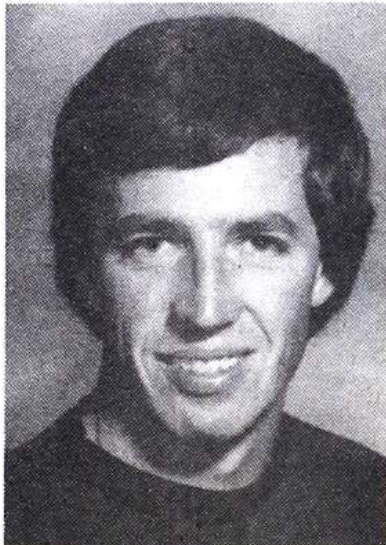

The 28-year-old former four sports athlete from Riverview was named this week to the head coaching job, succeeding Bill Hawley who will devote all of his time to the school's athletic directorship.

Henry inherits a team that will return with three seniors, two of whom that saw very limited varsity action last year.

"It will be a challenging year to say the least," Henry said. "We have three seniors coming back — Weam Sabagh, Bob Bortje and Tom Ray — and the tallest man is Weam at 6-3."

Despite the lack of experienced ball players and height, Henry is optimistic about his team's future prospects. His optimism stems from an incoming sophomore class of cagers, five of whom are 6-2.

"And I'm sure we're going to have room on our roster for a couple of them," Henry added.

CHUCK HENRY

Henry prepped at Riverview High School where he earned varsity letters in basketball, football, baseball and golf. He was named to the now defunct all-Mid-Wayne Conference cage team and also was Garden City held off Wayne 9-6 as winning pitcher Tom Poole went the distance. Poole gave up three earned runs, struck out eight and walked four for his first triumph of the season.

Wayne's Donnie Johnson remained hot at the plate as he drilled three hits, one a two-run homer in the fifth. Teammate John Sabourin also belted a two-run homer, his coming off of losing pitcher George Harrison in the third.

Poole helped his cause with two for three.

Ken Stack's contingent made it four straight at the expense of Allen Park. Canfield went the distance, fanned 10 and gave up five hits in the 2-1 victory.

With 30 to 35 miles an hour winds hampering the game, Garden City got on the board first as Tom Brady walked in the opening inning but was forced at second by Brad Lakey. Lakey then stole second and eventually scored when Sabourin doubled.

Garden City scored what proved to be the winning run in the third as Lakey singled, stole second and was chased home on Doug McGill's base hit.

Allen Park averted the shutout in the fifth when it scored its lone run.

"We're playing exceptional defense," said Stack, former St. Mary's of Wayne baseball standout. "Sabourin and Mike Paz are doing an excellent job and Mike's near-perfect with his glove out there."

Garden City meets Westland on Wednesday, then entertains Lincoln Park on Friday.

Lipinski named to All-State '9'

Mark Lipinski has earned a berth on the Michigan High School Athletic Association baseball coaches' Class B All-State team.

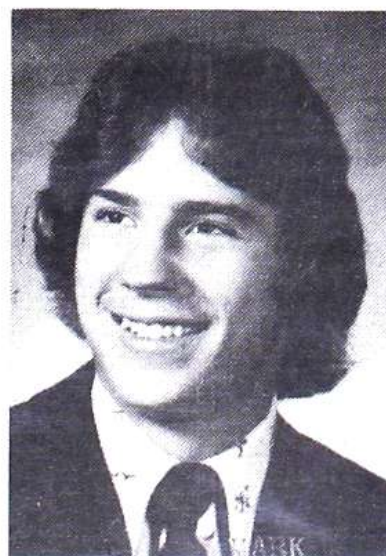

Lipinski is the first player in recent years to be honored as an all-stater. The 18-year-old Cherry Hill senior was named by the MHSAA as an infielder.

Lipinski batted .520 on the season, carving out 38 hits for 53 times at bat. He also scored 22 runs and drove in 22. He walked 20 times and was a strikeout victim only three times.

The Spartans' leading pitcher as well, Mark compiled an 8-2 won lost record in helping his team post a 15-10 won-lost over-all record.

Cherry Hill finished second to Taylor Kennedy in the chase for the Tri-River Conference title.

As a pitcher, Lipinski fanned 108 batters, gave up 61 hits and had a 3.59 ERA. Coach Ken Mientkiewicz pointed out that the relatively high ERA was due to the fact that Mark sustained two early losses in the season.

Exploding for 17 runs in the third inning — the most productive inning by any softball team this season — Extra Point served notice that it is a serious contender for the title in the Wayne Women's Slo-Pitch Softball League.

Extra Point went on and crushed the Local Merchants, 35-4.

The victory was Extra Point's second in as many outings, however, they still trail J & D Auto Parts in the standings. J & D has played one more game.

In the circus-like third inning, Terri Richardson batted five for five and also belted a homer. She accounted for five RBI's.

Richardson's teammates Jeri LaPere and Mikalena Onka checked in with three hits, while Diane Richardson and Kathy Podgorny split four singles between them.

Cheryl Madine, the winning pitcher, scattered five hits, one a double to Phyllis O'Leary. Cinda Dillard, Terri Reighard, Kathy Cody and Sherry Dugilets counted the other four hits for the losers.

The Local Merchants helped in their demise by committing 11 errors in that crucial third inning.

J & D's Auto stretched its winning streak to three straight by thrashing Mac Tools 17-2 behind the five-hit pitching of Sharon Kattan.

J & D struck early, scoring six times in the first inning off of losing pitcher Linda Rudd who was tagged for 13 hits.

Beth Johnson sparked J & D's assault with three hits, while Mary Porter and Lou Hoefft each had two singles. Sue Johnson doubled and Sharon McMasters picked up a two-run single for the winners.

Sarah Kattan, the winning pitcher, served up five hits — a single apiece to Jackie Steinhauer, Robin Walker, Ginny Hathorne, Brenda Schwartz and Patty Thornsberry.

Mac Tools bounced back and humbled Amanteas' 19-1 as Thornsberry laced three hits. Brenda Schwartz' two hits counted for three runs batted in while Miss Walker also had three RBI's. Sue Hale chipped in with two singles.

Rudd, the winner, gave up a first inning run, then gathered goose eggs the rest of the way. Amanteas' Roberta Merriss, Pam Kart, Jean Toor and Sue Brock each singled for the losers.

Rosie Franz was charged with the loss. She gave up 14 hits.

In the only other game, Jake's Lounge turned back Turner's Service 12-9 as an 8-run fifth inning settled the issue.

Turner jumped to a 5-2 lead after one inning and held on 8-4 after three, but Jake's eight runs in the fifth was just too much.

Kathy Perusse drilled a homer, two triples and personally accounted for five Jake's Lounge runs while teammate Cindy Kounrous belted three singles and Janet Hargrove came through with two singles.

Renee Watson got credit for the win. She gave up a double and RBI to Sue Dubke and a single each to Ronnie Gross and Ruth Winfield.

Pat Bledsoe was the loser. She delivered 14 hits.

Nice going, Ken

Ken McKee, who also happens to be Wayne's Mayor Pro-Tem, accepts the championship trophy from James Lents (at left) after winning the annual Wayne Chamber of Commerce's golf outing held last week. McKee fired rounds of 36 and 38 to finish with a sizzling two-over-par 74 at Fellows Creek. Some 50 local golfers took part in the outing.

"It's a good life and I would like to be a part of it," he added. I always thought that the only way to make money in fishing was to write a story about the big ones, like "Jaws" or "Moby Dick." "If you want to get away from your typewriter," Binkley offered, "I would be happy to have you go out with me one day and I could show you the finer points of the sport."

The invitation was a tempting one but, as fish "drown" when they get too much fresh air, I would probably die in the coolness and tranquility of the lakes.

Thanks, anyway.

Belleville Ruthers in 5-way tie for 1st

Kevin Fry tossed a three-hitter as PNA ripped Roberts Brothers 7-2 for their fourth Babe Ruth Baseball League victory in seven starts.

The victory enabled the winners to move into a five-way tie for first place. PNA (Polish National Association) share top billing with Tartar Sports, Horst Manufacturing, Atchison Ford and Draw-Trite.

In other games, Horst managed to stay in the thick of the title race by turning back Tartar's 6-2.

He played one year of varsity basketball at Finley, Ohio before transferring to Monroe Community Junior College. Henry graduated from Eastern Michigan University, receiving his bachelor's in education. He also has a master's from EMU in administration.

Though this will be his first head coaching assignment, Henry coached two years at Dearborn Divine Child. In fact, Henry coached this year's crop of Falcons when they were sophomores and they went on to capture the Class B state championship last April.

A member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, Henry hopes to interject basic Christian principles in his Wayne teams.

"We're still going to try to produce the most competitive team we can," Henry said, "but I feel we will also interject basic Christian principles, values and attitude along with winning."

Henry has been employed by the Wayne-Westland School District since 1971. He is a member of the physical education team at Adams Junior High.

Married to Wendy, the Henrys have two children — Bryan, 6, and Carrie, 3. They make their home in Westland.

Canton breezes to No. 7

McMurray's seeks 6th straight title

Unbeaten McMurray Insurance, winner of the last five Class A Canton Parks and Recreation softball titles, apparently isn't ready to give up its monopoly on championships.

The defending champ stretched their winning streak to seven games last week, their latest victim, Massey's bowing 16-11.

In the victory over Don Massey, McMurray received timely hitting from Bob Schebel and Rollee Schebel, who had four and three hits, respectively. The Massey attack was led by Steve Black who chipped in with three hits.

Tom Warner also banged out a home run for Massey.

In other action, Clark Block edged Quality Construction 4-3 as Clark played excellent defense to cap the victory. Paul Faber slammed out two important hits. Dennis Gaucher led Quality with two singles.

In another close contest George Smith Realty squeaked by Little Caesar's 6-5. Larry Lompra drilled two hits and two RBIs for the winners. Tom Jaskolski chipped in with two singles for Caesar's.

In class "B" action, Perlongo Excavating leads the pack with a fine 6-1 record. The Perlongo hitting attack was at its best as it destroyed Meijer's Thrifty Acres 19-1.

Ross Hahn slugged a home-run and two hits. Dale Butzin and John Lash also hit homeruns for winners. John Laparte had two hits for Meijer's.

Merchants, who are one game behind Perlongo, won two important games last week. They started Meijer's Thrifty Acres 7-1 and blasted Latin Quarter 18-5.

In the 18-5 victory over Latin Quarter, The Merchants were sparked by the fine hitting of Tom Hebel who was 4-for-5 with 6 RBIs.

Also Paul Hebel had a perfect day at the plate with a five for five performance. Roy Chapman added three singles for Latin Quarter.

In other class "B" game, the Lion & the Sword defeated Chapman Brothers West Realty World 12-6. The Lion & the Sword exploded for seven runs in the third inning. The assault was led by Rich Barr's three singles and the long-ball hitting of Bob Zurnuchknp. Dan Riordan chipped in with two singles for The Lion & the Sword. Jim Doherty slugged a round tripper for Chapman Bros. West Realty World.

Canton's Class C softball title race is a one-team affair

Ovidon Manufacturing served notice with its seventh victory that it is dead serious about claiming the 1977 Canton Parks and Recreation's Class C softball championship.

Ovidon buried the Huffman 19-6 as Murray Greenhulge laced two homers and a double for the winners. Chad McDonald also contributed a solo homer while teammate Bryant Benson Jr. blasted a triple.

David Monte, who carved out a pair of singles, paced the loser's assault.

In another fine display of hitting, Metro Nuts & Bolts defeated Century Farms-AmRoy 15-5. Two players for Metro Nuts & Bolts had a perfect day at the plate. Art Lavida had four singles in four at bats, while Bill Elliot banged out a home run and three singles.

Dave Larson collected two doubles for Century Farms-AmRoy.

Huffman's got back on the winning track by defeating Century Farms-AmRoy 11-2. Huffman's erupted for four (4) runs in the first inning and three in the third. The home run ball was the deciding factor.

Huffman's power was supplied by home run hitting Dave Monte, Ken Steiner, Greg May.

Century Farm's AmRoy was led by Gerald Slayton, John Bockstanz, John Maloney.

All three had two hits apiece. Geneva Church picked up their first win the easy way, by getting a 7-0 forfeit win over the Canton Police.

In the Women's League, Little Caesar's, last years champion's, continue to play like champs. They are undefeated with 4-0 record.

Little Caesar's had a close call in this week's action. They topped Meijers Thrifty Acres 5-4. The game was close all the way, with Caesar's winning in the eighth inning. Marie Bradley knocked in winning run with a single in the eighth inning. Rita Spalding also banged out two hits for the winners. Betty Bird had three hits for Meijers.

In other action Palace Fine Food over whelmed the Brooklyn Babes 19-7. Palace scored nine runs in third inning on nine hits. Pat Martinez paced the balanced attack with a Home Run and three singles.

Pamela Dipirro had a perfect day at the plate for Palace, with a double and three singles.

Cheryl Jahoda also had a home run and two singles for the winners. Elizabeth Champine had two singles for the Brooklyn Babes.

In the closest contest of the week, Egg Castle edged Maria's 13-12 for its first victory. Egg Castle served five runs in the fourth inning to put away the victory. They were led by the hitting of Carmen Turnbull and Paula Stradner. Maria's was paced by the power hitting of Reggie Cichoh, who had a single, double, and triple.

The ole pro

On the firing line at Fellows' Creek is none other than Dennis Fassett, the Associated Newspapers' Managing Editor. Fassett took part in the annual Wayne Chamber of Commerce's outing last week and turned in a respectable 94. Here Fassett lines up a five-foot putt, which he sank to take a five for the 370-yard par-4 18th hole. Fassett says he's tuning up for the 21th annual City Championship Tournament to be held on that course next month.

Wayne-Westland track club gets off to fast start

If you want to learn or develop track and field skills, the Wayne-Westland Track Club is looking for you.

The club is preparing for the summer phase of its season and is seeking young athletes - boys and girls - for its program.

"Our goal," said Rance Teeple, assistant track coach at Westland John Glenn High School, "is to provide instruction in track and field and simultaneously minimize anxiety, characteristic of many competitive social systems."

"We encourage good sportsmanship," Teeple added.

Teeple pointed out that the club will practice Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 6 to 8 p.m., beginning June 27 and ending July 29.

Participants should be 12 years old and older and do not necessarily have to reside in the Wayne-Westland Community School District to compete.

Teeple said that his staff will also include Barry Summers, recent Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association champ in the shot put and discus. Summers, a former John Glenn trackman, also finished seventh in the NCAA Division II National championships in his specialties, (shot put and discus).

Barry Basel, the head track coach at Glenn, and Teeple's younger brother, Wes, who is the Mid-American Indoor Pole Vault champion, also will instruct classes.

The club will utilize the facilities at Westland John Glenn, 36105 Marquette.

"Our club also plans to compete in track meets at Taylor Truman and hopefully at Wayne Memorial High School," Teeple announced. "We also plan meets against Ann Arbor Pioneer, Flat Rock and New Boston Huron."

Participants are urged to get a physical examination before attending practices.

There are registration fees of $7.50 and $5 for the practices one chooses to attend. Non-residents must pay twice the listed amount.

Further information may be obtained by contacting Coach Teeple after 8 p.m. weekdays at 729-5769.

run rally to shake off a pesky Century 21 team, 13-8, in their first meeting of the year. Again it was Jones who received credit for the victory as he fashioned a 12-hitter, three of those going to Paul Pos.

Studio's Al Bingamen, Mike Kositch and Gary Neumoff each had three hits. Bingamen had four RBIs, one more than Kosich and Neumoff.

Westland Sports scored in every inning except the last to route West's Awake 21-4 as Vern Westerland connected for four hits, including a homer and pair of doubles which drove in seven runs. Mates Dave Wyrabkiewicz picked up four hits, three of those singles and a double, for five runs batted in, and Chris Murphy chipped in with a pair of circuit clouts and a single which counted for six RBIs.

Winning pitcher Tony Pilarski was tagged for 11 hits, three of those by Doug Scheel who failed to get the cycle when he left out a double.

Tony Pilarski was credited with the victory.

Shakee's scored one run in the bottom of the seventh to jar Feister Oil 7-6 in a see-sawing affair. Winning pitcher Dick Jacobs had his problems in the early innings, giving up three runs in the first and two in the third inning but survived.

Jim Taylor latched on to three hits and two RBIs for the losers while teammate Rob Carr laced two singles and scored twice.

Ron Neracher led Shakee's attack as he drove home four runs with a pair of singles and a double, Larry Brown socked a homer and triple for the winners.

Dick Jacobs, the winning pitcher, gave up 13 hits, one less than loser, Duke Beamish.

Buzz Troop trampled Big Bills Sporting Goods 18-1 as Chuck Blackman tossed a five-hitter. He was touched for two hits by Larry Whitehouse.

Jack Lucas's two doubles and a single drove home four runs and Don Fillips belted two singles which counted for three RBIs for the winners.

M&M Radio-TV earned a 7-0 forfeit victory over the Habs who didn't have the required number of players at the end of the game - one of the players was tossed out of the game for disputing an ump's decision.

In the only other game, Arcade scored nine times in the first and 12 in the fourth to beat back Pete & Johnny's Towing Service 22-14.

Jeff Hodgkins's two doubles and a single counted for three RBIs and Chuck Blevin stroked four singles and four RBIs while Tom Wietha missed hitting for the cycle after lacing a single, double and homer for the winners.

doubles. Mat Barb Cleaver picked up three hits and three RBIs.

Winning pitcher Cindy Moyer, who received the support of 18-hits, gave up 11, two each to Sherry Gale and Denise Balint.

Westway Trucking came back from a 6-3 first inning deficit to stop Hudson's of Westland 19-11. Laura LaCroix, the winning pitcher, got the support of her teammates at the plate as they collected 21 hits.

Holly Wrinkler led the attack with four hits, a triple, double and two singles while Linda Linstram had three, two of those going for doubles.

Jensen cards hole-in-one

With one stroke Virgil Jensen accomplished what some golfers only dream of doing on a golf course.

The 46-year-old Jensen carded a hole-in-one this week at Fellows Creek Golf Course. Jensen carded the 135-yard, 5-hole, using a 9 iron. Jensen, who has been golfing for four years, finished nine holes with a 44 total.

He said he was as surprised as anyone when he learned the ball had fallen in the cup.

Rounding out the foursome which witnesses the feat were Harold Lalombe of Westland and Virgil's two brothers Jerome and John.
